16th annual carroll prom

The above photograph was taken in the Main Ballroom of the Cleveland Hotel last night. In the center are the Prom Royalty, Paul Joliet, King, with his escort, the Queen, Miss Eleanor Masterson. Flanking them are Donald Birmingham, honorary chairman of the affair, and Miss Margaret Dunn, honorary Queen. On either side of the Chairman and their escorts are the members of the Prom Committee and the Prom hostesses. We regret that the late comers are not included in the picture; however the press deadline required that the picture be taken early in order that it be included in this issue.

many thanks

The members of the Prom Committee welcome this opportunity to express their hearty appreciation to all faculty members, alumni, members of the staff of the Carroll News, students and friends of John Carroll University for their contributions toward the success of the sixteenth annual prom.

We cannot but feel this success was derived from the cooperative spirit which radiated from every conceivable source. It is our earnest desire that this same spirit will continue to manifest itself in the furtherance of all future Carroll activities, and that we may all be present at many more Carroll Proms.

The Committee for the Sixteenth Annual Prom,
Paul V. Joliet,
Chairman.

after the ball is over

Emil Velazco has packed-away his pipe organ and he, his pretty soloist, and his twelve musicians have left for Detroit. The doors of the main ballroom of the Hotel Cleveland are closed, concealing a barren hall in which, not so many hours ago, danced gay collegians and their fair maidens. Like the season of the year during which it is held, the prom slowly arrived, sparkled for a few fleeting hours, and then retreated to the haven of its predecessors—an abode of pleasant memories. The sixteenth annual Carroll Prom is an event of the past.

This morning the Carroll News offers words of praise to those who were responsible for the success of last evening's affair, the Prom of Carroll's Golden Jubilee Year.

We praise the Very Rev. B. J. Rodman, S. J., President of Carroll, the Rev. Edward J. Bracken, S. J., Dean, and the Rev. William J. Murphy, S. J., Dean of Men, the three faculty members who control school functions and who, like all the members of the local faculty, are more than educators. They are real men—modern men. They recognize the fact that it is well to develop social qualities in their students while instilling the fundamental precepts of mind and soul. They are anxious to graduate gentlemen and for that reason encourage such affairs as the one which was staged last evening. To them should go the lion's share of the praise.

The committee, under Paul Joliet and Donald Birmingham, are deserving of much laudation. They overcame many obstacles and sacrificed much of their own time and money arranging the dance. Theirs is the satisfaction of knowing that they had a task to do and that they did it well.

The young ladies who came from near and far to accompany the Carroll students will be the toast of the campus for many weeks. The Carroll News freshmen reporters reported that the ballroom was crowded with beautiful girls.

The alumni and undergraduates who attended are to be commended for their recognition of the value of an evening of real entertainment and for their loyal support of everything Carroll.

It was a fitting opening for the Carroll Golden Jubilee Year Celebration.

Senior Flag Raising on April 22 To Establish Carroll Tradition

American Legion Speaker to Aid Hynes in Ceremony; New Banner Donated by Class of '36 May Set Example for Others

On Wednesday morning, April 22, a flag donated to the university by graduating class will be raised by Joseph Hynes, senior prexy. When the American flag slowly glides to its summit atop the flagpole on the plateau behind the auditorium, a new tradition will be established for future senior classes to follow.

Dan Sowers Legion Head

Mr. Dan Sowers, public relations counsel for the Cities Service Oil Co. and chairman of the distinguished guests committee for the American Legion Convention to be held in Cleveland this summer, will be guest speaker for the occasion. Mr. Sowers was also chairman of the well known "Americanization" Committee of the American Legion—a program by which thousands of urchins were taken from the streets and educated.

Fortified by this brilliant background, this nationally famed speaker will appear before the Carroll student body as the featured orator at the flag raising ceremony.

Fr. Ryan To Speak

Besides these accomplishments the guest has been a labor mediator of the Cities Service Co. and is called the "father" of the Junior Baseball League sponsored by the American Legion. He has also participated in successful movies on the West Coast, has been director of Cities Service Radio programs, featuring Jessica Dragonette, is a feature writer for many popular magazines and has a national reputation as a toastmaster.

Also participating in the ceremony will be Rev. Charles McDevitt Ryan, S. J., who will offer the invocation, and John Howard, mayor of University Heights, who will lend his official dignity to the occasion.

Music by Carroll Band

The National Anthem and other selections will be offered by the John Carroll University Band under the direction of Mr. Jack Hearn. A tentative feature of the program is a plan providing for the members of the graduating class to wear cap and gown.

The raising of the flag will mark the opening of the Golden Jubilee ceremonies on the part of the Seniors as the first class to graduate from the new buildings of the university.

Wilbur Sinclair Talks on Old Age Aid

Federal Securities Act Expected To Help State Care for Aged

"The Federal Securities Act will probably raise the maximum old age aid in Ohio from $25 to $30," Wilbur Sinclair, Administrator of Aged Poor Relief in Cuyahoga County, told Carroll sociologists at a lecture in the Administration Building Thursday afternoon, April 2. William L. Peoples, '37, introduced the speaker.

Sinclair explained what has brought the old age problem to the front in this country. Causes of this social problem, he said, are the economic results of the World War, the depression and the fact that America is growing older.

He gave a detailed explanation of the two application blanks which one seeking aid must fill-out. He told of the difficulties the county social workers encounter when they attempt to verify the applicant's claim that his age makes him eligible for assistance.

As a part of the general program celebrating the Jubilee Year of John Carroll University a gigantic Free Vaudeville Show is to be presented in the auditorium of the new Administration building at 8:15 Thursday evening, April 23. The show is being presented under the auspices of the Alumni Association in conjunction with the Carroll Senior and Junior Guilds, Boosters' Club, the students of the university and of St. Ignatius High School, representatives of the Knights of Columbus, the Irish-American and other Cleveland civic associations.

Collegiate Club To Hold Dance

According to an announcement received at the News office last week the Collegiate Club dance will be held on Saturday, May 16. Members of the committee the report read are: Dick White, chairman, with the Messrs. Lamont, Kirby, Peters, Mohr, Craine, Schenkelberg, Ferris, Clifford, Schwartz, Wilson and James.

Although the location is not as yet definite, White claims that the hop will be held at either the Westwood or the Lakewood Country club. In like manner all the other arrangements for the Club's dance are tentative. The committee will decide between Jan Carlson, Ralph Keating and Marion Sears for their music masters. It has been definitely announced that attractive programs have already been ordered and that those in charge of arrangements have a novel idea up their collective sleeve for "floaters" as an inducement for the pre-dance ticket sale.

Even though none of the plans are definite the committee ended its communication to the News with an invitation to the Carroll student body to attend the Club's spring event on May 16.

Vocalists Climax Social Season at Severance May 1

Morabito and Czyzak Featured
Soloists in Forty-Sixth
Annual Glee Club Concert

With the passing of the annual promenade, Carroll students now look forward to the climax of the scholastic year's social season when the local glee club presents its forty-sixth annual concert in Severance Hall Friday evening, May 1.

This year's concert will feature a cantata by Charles Wakefield Cadman entitled "The Vision of Sir Launfal." The poem to which this cantata is written is James Russell Lowell's description of Sir Launfal's quest of the Holy Grail.

Selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's famous English operetta "Pinafore" will again be presented by the Carroll Glee club. These selections were very well received at last year's concert.

String Sextet Performs

Other numbers which will be presented by the entire choir are: "Moonbeams" by Victor Herbert; "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" by Geoffrey O'Hara; and "Indian Dawn" by Zamecnik, a former member of the Carroll Glee Club.

The string sextet, composed of Robert Moore, Albert Kniesner, George Toth, Frank Subadohnik, Robert Tyron, Charles Centa, will appear on the program.

Hostesses for the forty-sixth annual concert are: Ann Fradette, Mary Hickey, and Rosemary Holden of Ursuline College; Helen Dowling and Margaret Scheucher of Notre Dame College.

Officers of the Carroll Glee Club are: John J. Czyzak, '36, president; Joseph P. Sullivan, '37, business manager; John M. Drain, '37, publicity manager; John F. Carey, '36, chairman of patrons; William J. Reidy, '37, chairman of the ticket committee; Claire J. Johnson, '36, chairman of the program committee; and Frank E. O'Connell, '35, accompanist.

Shakesperian Plays Presented

Inaugurating the first of a series of new features to be presented each week to the students at Convocation, the English department will present a group of famous scenes taken from different Shakesperian plays.

These Shakesperian plays have been chosen as representative of the English department to best put forth the advantages of the course.

The scenes will be taken from the different plays of Shakespeare. Among these will be the death scene from Hamlet. About twenty students from the course in Shakespeare will take part in the play.

The feature of the hour will be a soliloquy by Eugene F. Gleason. The topic of one of Mr. Gleason's character skits will be that famous "Dagger Scene" or "To Be Or Not To Be—That Is The Question."

Faculty Conducts Many Holy Week Services

The services held during Holy Week in the parish churches of Cleveland and elsewhere saw many members of the local faculty conducting or assisting in the ceremonies. In Cleveland the following members of the faculty conducted services: Rev. Charles McDevitt Ryan, S. J., at St. Anthony's parish; Rev. Charles J. Scott, S. J., at St. Rose's parish; Rev. Leo John Vollmayer, S. J., at St. Catherine's parish; Rev. William P. Hagerty, S. J., at St. Malachi's parish; Rev. Louis J. Puhl, S. J., at St. Clement's parish;

Soft music, the subdued glow of dim lights, swirling, shimmering gowns swishing sibilantly through the silvery dimness, gleaming white shining in its sable setting, the undertone of laughter, murmurs and the whisper of sliding steps mingling with the music to produce a symphony of sound, a lull, gay laughter and light hearts, moving couples mingling, pleasantries exchanged, more music and more dancing . . . ## Hold Oratory Contest April 17

Preliminaries Precede Finals
Scheduled for Late May;
O'Connell Acts as Chairman

The afternoon of Friday, April 17, will mark a red letter day for the members of the Carroll Oratorical Society for that afternoon, according to the Rev. Charles McDevitt Ryan, S. J., the preliminaries of the annual oratorical contest will be held. During the tryouts competing orators parade their talents before the discerning eyes of three judges.

Thomas O'Connell Chairman

Among those enrolled in the contest at this date are two of last year's finalists, Eugene F. Gleason, and Richard L. Leusch; Charles Henry, two time winner of the Debating cup; Keith Webster, a finalist in the recent Scripps Howard speaking contest; Thomas and Frank Osborne, Harold Meade, Robert Cauley, and Carl DeFranco, sophomore members of the society.

Thomas O'Connell, winner of the award last year, will follow the precedent established with the inception of the contest and will not attempt to win the medal a second time but will serve in the finals this year in the capacity of chairman.

Among the society's other activities during the Easter vacation was an exhibition debate presented before the Cleveland Council of the Knights of Columbus at their clubrooms in the Alerton Hotel. Participating in this contest were Chester B. Lynn and Joseph P. Sullivan, an affirmative team, and a negative team of Charles Henry and Harold E. Meade. Frank Polk, a graduate of John Carroll University, presided over the meeting in the capacity of chairman.

Magic Spell By Veldzco

Misty figures on shadowed walls smoothly bend and sway to the magic spell cast by Emil Velazco and his twelve collaborators in rhythmical legerdemain . . . wave upon wave of provocative melody breaking, on the listening walls until even the deep-toned hangings seem to yield to its persuasive pleadings and bend and sway in measured sympathy . . . a symphony of melifluous syncopation . . . a muted tone picture gently filling the ballroom of the Hotel Cleveland with its breath-taking beauty . . . the creative baton of the artist Velazco masterfully coaxing dance-inspiring melody from the wailing violins, muted trumpets, and crooning saxophones of his conspirators in musical beauty. This was the musical banquet served last night to the two hundred couples who attended the Golden Jubilee Promenade of John Carroll University.

From Vogue— From Esquire

Lovely girls, radiant with the glow of youth, looking as though they had stepped from the pages of Vogue, and meticulously groomed young men, resembling an Esquire fashion plate, lent an air of smartness to the occasion. The black and white ensembles of the men served as an effective background for the

Freshmen May Purchase Keys

Boczek Attempts to Establish Precedent Among Classes

Members of the freshman class under the leadership of Edward Boczek are attempting to establish a new college precedent at Carroll by instituting a movement for the purchase of "keys" for frosh. Assisting Boczek on the committee are Gene Kirby, Chairman, Dick White and Larry Bringman.

The idea, according to members of the committee, is to persuade every member of the class of '39 to wear a key in remembrance of his freshman days at John Carroll. That the movement was met enthusiastically by the yearlings is manifested by the fact that a short time after the model had been selected an order for 75 keys was placed with the Marlboro

Eight Former Carroll Men Enter Priesthood

Eight of the 21 young men who will be raised to the dignity of the priesthood in St. John's cathedral on Friday morning, May 1, formerly were tutored by the Jesuit fathers.

This occasion will augment greatly the number of priests in the diocese who have received their early education at old Loyola High, St. Ignatius High, and John Carroll University.

Among the candidates for ordination are: T. J. Kelley, John Rath, Edward Gackowski, John Andel, Edward C. Gallagher, and Robert Stimmel, all of whom attended Carroll. John Lavalley and Edward Deiker entered the seminary after completing their studies at St. Ignatius High.

Who's Who

"Be a good fellow while we may
For tomorrow may bring sorrow
So let us now be gay."

That is the flippant verse of a popular American college song; that is the philosophy of the handsome young man whose picture graces today's "Who's Who." The only difference between the theme of the verse and the very practical outlook on life held by Merrill T. FitzPatrick is that "gay" means too many a collegian "dissipation" whereas the former Carroll News editor interprets it to mean "Christian joy." Here's a kaleidoscopic review of twenty-two years of "Christian joy."

"Hi-Boys" Says Fitz

In 1914, when the cannon shells were bursting o'er the bloody fields of Flanders, when economic and ethical confusion filled the civilized world, Merrill T. FitzPatrick stuck his head out of the basinette and hollered, "Hi-Boys". Wilson's Fourteen Points for Peace and the Tea Pot Dome Scandal did not interest baby Fitz; he just grew up and went to St. Ignatius Grammar school where the good sisters of St. Joseph began the task of teaching him the multiplication tables. On good authority we learn that he was a popular student despite the fact that he cherished the position of teacher's pet.

Having mastered his multiplication tables he applied for admittance to Cathedral Latin high school. Once admitted he earned a place on the school's honor roll and retained the coveted scholastic honor throughout his four years at the 107th Street institution. An old Latin annual reveals that Fitz was anchor-man on the freshman track relay team. Indeed, he was a real anchor-man! The team won only one meet and that by virtue of a forfeit. Wisely enough he left the cinder-paths to devote his time to the high school paper. His senior year saw him as associate editor of the Latineer.

Always Happy In High School

His fellow high school students tell us that he was, as he is today, quiet, unassuming and always happy. Many long hours were spent with his text-books. He wrote editorials for the high school paper in which he praised social affairs yet, while the others danced, he remained at home and attempted to solve the mighty problem of whether he should be a cardinal, a famous surgeon, or, if worse came to worse, President of the United States. The interesting fact is not that he was unable to solve his problem but that he did not attend the school's dances. Yes, time changeth many things! But that is getting ahead of our story.

Dance Head Thanksgiving

Fitz matriculated at Carroll in '32. Four years later we find him one of the most prominent men on the campus. Needless to say he has done a right-about-face from the procedure of his high school days by attending all of Carroll's social functions. He has served on numerous dance committees and was chosen chairman of this year's Thanksgiving Dance, one of the most successful dances in the history of the school.

Well Guards Odd Pennies

In his junior year he was elected treasurer of his class. Judging from the fact that he will graduate from this school as treasurer of his class we deduce that he has well-guarded the classes odd pennies.

Probably his greatest achievements have been in the field of collegiate journalism. His four years of service to the News merited him the post of editor-in-chief. He was the first college editor in this country to use what is known in newspaper circles as "flush heads". His associates considered him a conservative despite the fact that several times his editions shook the very thunder from-out the sky. His staff thought well of him and are now planning a banquet in his honor late in the spring.

In Dreams Southern Bound

His parents are prominent in local political circles and Merrill has already imbibed a little political fever. He desires to enter law school and specialize in international relations.

The other members of the faculty who participated in services held in other cities are: Rev. Clifford J. LeMay, S. J., at Painesville; Rev. Thomas D. Ewing, S. J., at Cuyahoga Falls; Rev. Leonard H. Otting, S. J., at Elyria; Rev. L. V. Carron, S. J., at Ashtabula; and Rev. Ralph A. Gallagher, S. J., at Chicago.

The Music Box

By John Czyzak '36

In view of the approaching Glee Club concert, we thought it opportune to epitomize in our article today the outstanding work the club will perform at its forty-sixth annual concert—the beautiful cantata, The Vision of Sir Launfal. This work, composed by Charles Wakefield Cadman and set to the words of America's outstanding poet, James Russell Lowell, is scored for the entire chorus, a baritone and a tenor solo, a quartette with organ and piano accompaniment.

Founded on Tradition

"The Vision of Sir Launfal" is founded upon the tradition about which many poets, from the romancers of the Middle Ages, Cretien de Troyes and Wolfram von Eschenbach to Wagner and Tennyson, have written. According to the legend the San Greal, or Holy Grail, was a cup made of a single sapphire, from which Christ drank at the Last Supper with His disciples.

The Grail was brought to England by Joseph of Arimathea. For many years it was preserved in his family and served as an object of adoration by numerous pilgrims. The obligation of being chaste and pure in heart rested upon those to whom it was entrusted. One of the descendants of Joseph broke his vow of chastity and as a punishment for this breach of faith, the Holy Grail disappeared. From this time on it was sought throughout the length and breadth of the earth by the Knights of the Round Table, until it was finally discovered by the stainless Galahad.

Enlarges Meaning

For the purposes of "The Vision of Sir Launfal," Lowell has, as he says, "enlarged the circle of competition in search of the miraculous cup in such a manner as to include not only other persons than the heroes of the Round Table, but also a period of time subsequent to the supposed date of Arthur's reign."

Lowell also enlarged the moral meaning of the legend by making charity and brotherly love the conditions of success in the search, rather than chastity. Sir Launfal, in his vision, sets out from his castle gate, dressed in flashing mail, his heart full of pride and intolerance. A lowly beggar is sitting by the palace drawbridge and seeks alms of Sir Launfal as he dashes by. His fastidious sense shocked, Sir Launfal tosses the mendicant a piece of gold in scorn and disdain.

But the long years spent in fruitless search of the Holy Grail change Sir Launfal. He returns to his palace softened by human sympathy. An old man, he finds his throne usurped by another and is cast forth into the storm.

From Wood To Sapphire

Again he meets the leper, but this time he sees with an eye that penetrates deeper than mere flesh. Beneath the rags and sores of the leper he sees a brother in the image of God, and gladly shares with him his single crust of bread and draught of water. Then before the astonished eyes of Sir Launfal, the leper rises and stands radiant—the very Christ in whose name alms was given. The wooden bowl from which the draught was drunk appears as a brilliant sapphire and in it flows the Lord's blood. The Holy Grail, the object of his search, he finds at his own palace gate, because there for the first time he had been made perfect by charity.

beautiful gowns of their escorts. As the promenaders twirled, the ballroom floor danced with ever-changing combinations of colors and tints, a surging, receding twirling panorama of hues. This was the appeal of beauty to the eyes at the Golden Jubilee Promenade of John Carroll University.

Wonderful music, beautiful girls, and perfect arrangements combined to make the Carroll Prom of 1936, the Dance of Dances, the crowning social event of the university's fifty years in Cleveland.

Profs Attend Classics Meet

Kiefer, Castellano and Carron Participated in Sessions Of Classical Association

Easter vacation offered no rest for several members of the Carroll faculty as the personnel of the Department of Classical Languages, the Rev. Joseph A. Kiefer, S. J., and Mr. Charles A. Castellano, S. J., together with the Rev. Lionel V. Carron, S. J., assistant Dean, attended the sessions of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fr. Rodman Speaks

The Rev. Benedict J. Rodman, S. J., President of John Carroll University welcomed the 150 delegates to Cleveland on behalf of the hosts for the occasion, the Arts groups of the various city colleges and universities acting in collaboration. After he had offered the spiritual invocation, Fr. Rodman sounded the keynote of the convention in his usual concise manner and the delegates, consisting of professors and instructors of Latin and Greek, immediately devoted themselves to the business at hand.

Member of Committee

Although neither Fr. Kiefer, head of the Latin Department at Carroll, nor Mr. Castellano, occupant of the chair of Greek at Carroll, read papers at the convention, both took an active part in the proceedings. Fr. Kiefer was a member of the executive committee in charge of all arrangements for the meeting while Mr. Castellano participated in informal discussions dealing with subjects holding his interest.

The Rev. James A. Kleist, S. J., director of graduate work at St. Louis University and author of a great many works on Latin and Greek read a paper entitled "One Important Element in the Vocal Reading of Vergil and Cicero."

The key, which Kirby claims may be purchased for a small sum, is a thoroughly masculine ornamentation, a square piece of metal with a gold foundation. The Carroll seal stands out on a field of black enamel and the decoration is fastened to the vest by a standard clasp.

John Frawley Carey Sat in Mayor's Chair

Carey Believes That Sodality Should Lead School Groups

All opinions to the contrary, there is one Carroll student who is interested in everything and anything connected with the University. This interest has led him into participation in all forms of Carroll activities, often to prominent positions in them. This most sincere and studious fellow is none other than our own beloved John Frawley Carey.

This spirit is hereditary, his father having been one of the first of the alumni of John Carroll University. Mr. Carey, Sr. became assistant city law director under the administration of Tom L. Johnson. He later rose to the rank of First Lieutenant in the United States Navy. His death had a great effect on his young son and left him with a pronounced dislike for a military burial, which he terms, "The saddest sight I've ever seen."

John's first love is the sodality, which, he believes, should be raised to a place above that occupied by the Carroll Union, because everything should revolve around the spiritual life in the school. In his opinion the Glee Club is the best organization at Carroll. John is also a member of the Little Theater Society and the French Club. He feels that all of these organizations would be greatly improved by the elimination of the "dead wood" in them.

In his youth Frawley was formally received at the city hall in Chicago. (He will show you the newspaper clippings to prove it). And he sat in the Mayor Thompson's chair, a thrill he will never forget.

Last summer he was Carroll's only representative at summer school of Catholic Action at St. Louis University. By his own admission, it was through his direct influence and effort in securing patrons that the Little Theater Society's presentation, "Your Uncle Dudley," was brought out of the "red."

John Carey

Plans to Attend Western Reserve for Post Graduate Work

He is to be graduated in June and he is one of the few seniors who need not worry that he will do so. John will be able to tell of having completed his college courses in three and one-half years.

His intention is to take a graduate course at Western Reserve in his chosen field, sociology, and to learn the practical aspects of social work with a view towards teaching.

Those who know John feel sure that his strong determination and sincerity, his ready humor and candor, plus great ability will take him far along the road to success. And too, his high sense of morality makes him one of those rare fellows about whom we can say, "He can't miss."

A Little Dope About Those Carnival Tickets and Who Sells Them

President B. J. Rodman, S. J., received the first book of tickets and within two minutes the tickets were paid for . . . Attorney Sid Cohen is one of our best salesmen. The other day he sold General Chairman Bill Rogers three tickets before Bill knew what he was buying. The Pontiac was purchased from Pete Tillman, '90. It's great when an alumnus patronizes an alumnus, yes, and Pete bought $50 worth of tickets.

It is interesting to note that the ticket distribution for the Carnival is going forth rapidly. Last week the student bodies of John Carroll and St. Ignatius were visited . . . the response was most encouraging. The Junior Guild has taken more than 200 books of tickets and the Senior Guild is not far behind. The County Treasurer's office has received $50 worth of tickets . . . the County Engineer's office is also working hard for the Carnival.

Here There and Elsewhere

The Alumni Association was pleased by the remittance of three dollars dues received from John P. Boylan, now of Rochester, N. Y. Ed Brickel, '15, now chief clerk of the Nickel Plate Railroad was seen sipping a Coca Cola at Harvey's . . . The Association offers its sympathy to the Rev. C. J. Moseley, '95, and the Rev. Wm. H. Moseley, '99, on the passing of their father to his eternal reward . . . Recording Secretary Frank Ranney, '28, has spent the past two months basking under a California sun . . . yours truly is more than just a bit jealous.

ing . . . Donald J. Ranney, S. J., '30, is now a scholastic at the University of Detroit . . . Austie Gibbons, '33, apparently enjoyed that little siesta at Walter Murray's . . . The Rev. William Newton, D. D., was the controlling power back of the successful Rosemary dance and card party held Easter Monday at the Allerton . . . Edward Smolik, '32, will soon complete his study of medicine at Western Reserve and will enter at City Hospital . . . Pete French, '35, has become quite adept at administering the heart balm (one of the many benefits of an education in-law) . . . How about giving Johnny Burke a few tips, eh Pete . . . Dr. John A. Toomey, '10, of City Hospital always holds interest in the doings of his Alma Mater.

Miss Cosgrave To Be Married

Our newly employed correspondence proudly whispers—Mark Mulcahy, '32, and the ever efficient assistant Registrar Florence Cosgrove will take a bridal walk soon . . . Joseph Fegen, Carroll Union prexy in '34, now located with Firestone Rubber in Philadelphia, is prepared to say, "I do." The whisper is fading rapidly but I thought I heard the name of Jim Vana, '33.

Tom Conley's Welcome Dinner

On next Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce this columnist will have his eyes on you while you are attending Coach Tom Conley's welcome dinner . . . and the following night, April 21, you had better be on your good behavior as you are sipping refreshments at the Alumni meeting in the recreation rooms of the University . . . but here is a promise not to write a thing about you at that "Free Show" on the 23rd.

Make Plans for Gigantic Carroll Carnival

More Than Hundred Meet in Support of Fete Scheduled for May 22, 23

More than one hundred people, including alumni, members of the Carroll Guilds, representatives of the faculty, student bodies, civic and fraternal organizations, met in Hotel Cleveland on Friday evening, April 3, to make plans for and to pledge their support to the Gigantic Carnival which will be held on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 22 and 23, in the auditorium of the University.

In the words of William J. Rogers, '14, general chairman: "The purpose of this Carnival is to raise funds for the University, for the furtherance of alumni and student activities, and for the promotion of a Golden Jubilee program."

Both the Rev. B. J. Rodman, S. J., president of Carroll and the Rev. Ralph A. Gallagher, S. J., alumni advisor, attended the meeting and urged the "friends of Carroll" to help the University take its place in the life of Cleveland.

John J. O'Malley, a non-alumnus but one of the school's greatest backers, pledged the support of the old Boosters' Club and of the Irish-American Civic Association. "You can rely on us to do our part," said Mr. O'Malley.

Others who were present and pledged their support were: Mrs. T. J. Britton, president of the Senior Guild; Miss Helen McGregor, head of the Junior Guild; Miss Hazel Haeflinger and Miss Helen Lyons from County Treasurer Boyle's office; Mr. Edward Freeman, past Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus; Mr. James Devitt from County Surveyor McWilliam's office; and Councilman Vincent Heffernan, '21.

Don Birmingham, president of the Carroll Union, and Vincent Collins, president of the Senior Class at St. Ignatius High, were enthusiastic in their talks.

There were hundreds of both $2 and $5 books of carnival tickets distributed at the close of the meeting. The attraction of the carnival is a beautiful Pontiac automobile.

The next meeting of this general committee will be held Friday evening, April 17, at 8 p. m., in Hotel Cleveland.

Award Bestowed by Head Of St. Louis University

A distinctive honor was bestowed upon David J. Dugan, '32, on April 7 when he was awarded membership in Alpha Sigma Nu, Jesuit honor fraternity. There were but three seniors at St. Louis University appointed by the Most Rev. Robert S. Johnston, S. J., President of the University. Dugan was the only appointee from the School of Medicine.

Appointment to membership in this national fraternity is based upon high scholastic standing and service and loyalty to the school.

Dugan was a most outstanding student at John Carroll where he served in many capacities as a student leader. His outstanding mark in extra-curricula activity was attained when he was selected king for the Prom of 1932. He also holds membership in Sigma Kappa Pi, Carroll honor fraternity.

He will be graduated on June 2 and will then intern at St. John's hospital, Cleveland.

prominent radio sports announcers, Tom Manning, Guilbert Gibbons, Jack Graney and Ellis VanderPyl. The singers who will appear include Jerry Brandon, Jimmy Ague, Wayne West, the Alpine Yodelers and the Gaylord Trio. Variety features will be Betty Lee Taylor, pianist, the Hill Billy Band and Juvenile Minstrels from WGAR, two popular acts from WJAY, Lou Evans, monologist, Tom Donahue, violinist, George "Buddy" Sherman, tap dancer, and Mary Leonard, ballet dancer. The Junior Guild will present the humorous skit, "Are You Ringing?" The Carroll Glee Club, Band and Orchestra will also be on the program. Arrangements are being completed for several other acts, including a prominent Hollywood star whose identity has not yet been announced.

James J. Laughlin, Jr., '15, will be the speaker of the evening. His remarks will be short, for the sole purpose of Mr. Laughlin's words will be to exhort the various groups interested in the University to ban together in their activities. Mr. Laughlin, aside from being a Carroll alumnus, is a graduate of Harvard Law School.

Plans for the Free Show are under the direction of a committee consisting of John P. Burke, '33, chairman; James J. Vana, '33; Guilbert Gibbons, '32; Thomas E. Downey, '35; Mrs. T. J. Britton, president of the Senior Guild, Miss Helen McGregor, president of the Junior Guild, and George A. Sherman, former assistant dance director of Earl Carroll's Vanities.

All alumni, students, and friends of John Carroll are not alone invited to attend but are urged to be present at the entertainment on the evening of April 23.

Conley Gets Unofficial Reception by Alumni

At 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, April 6, news came to the Alumni headquarters that Tom Conley would arrive in town. After several telephone calls to former Carroll football players at all other alumni interested in athletics, an informal reception for the new coach was arranged. "Judge" Carberry, former assistant coach, provided a suite of rooms at Quad Hall and the refreshments for the occasion. Among those who attended were Alex Zirin from the Plain Dealer, Isi Newborn of the Press, Harry A. Hanna, William M. McCarty, John A. Smith, John P. Burke, Greg Conly, Gene Stringer, Al Burens and Frank McDonough.

Science Club Drives for New Members

Minarik Heads Committee; Branin Lectures to Society April 23

Joseph Landers, President of the Carroll Scientific Academy, recently disclosed the Academy's plans for an extensive drive for new members. At the last meeting Landers appointed a committee, composed of Paul Minarik, chairman; John Rae and Armos Loyer, to sponsor this drive.

The members of this committee will speak to the various science classes in behalf of their organization and, if present plans materialize, will also address the student convocation on April 22 as a part of their membership campaign.

Thursday evening, April 23, will mark the next meeting of the Academy. At this time Dr. M. Lelyn Branin, Ph.D., acting head of the Biology Department at Carroll, will present a lecture in the Physics Lecture Room. Dr. Branin has spoken frequently before scientific groups and is a regular contributor to several scientific journals.

Bauman Gives Vocation Talk

"Essentials for Success in Business" Title of Lecture Presented at Convocation

In an address delivered by Mr. John N. Bauman, vice-president of the White Motor Company of Cleveland, to the students of John Carroll at convocation Wednesday morning, students were urged to prepare intelligently for their vocation.

Mr. Bauman's lecture centered around four points. These were: (1) Choose the work you want to do most; (2) Learn to apply abstract education in practical business; (3) Think clearly; (4) Have the desire to succeed and live business.

The speaker received the degree of Mechanical Engineer from Bucknell, and his M.S. from the University of Michigan. He was presented by the department of Business Administration, and was introduced by the Rev. Louis Carron, S. J., acting Dean of John Carroll.

Band Plays Before Charity

Present First Concert Before Hospital Group Since Organized in 1931

Renewing the policy of playing for various institutions throughout the city, the John Carroll University Band will present a concert at the Charity Hospital Nurses' Home on April 27, in Jordan Hall. This will be the first appearance of the organization before a hospital unit.

Tentatively, the program presents Michal Dwyer, band soloist, in a coronet solo. Many novelty numbers will be revived, among them the "Country Wedding" premiered at last year's concert, in which Jonas Moran and Bill McMahon play the role of bride and groom.

The more serious side of the program will be taken up with such numbers as "The Scarlet Mask" and "Diana" overtures, "The Merry Widow Waltz," and various marches.

The concert, for which no admission charge will be made, starts at 8 p. m. Band members have been conducting a drive to bring more college students into the organization. All who are interested are to see Jack Hearn's any Wednesday afternoon.

When this group was founded in 1931 it numbered 15 pieces. The membership increased steadily until 40 players were enrolled. Then last year Carroll students were surprised when a 60 piece band, resplendent in blue and gold marched down the field to open the football season.

A Wide-Spreading Family Tree

Americans who can trace their ancestry back to Revolutionary war days or even the Mayflower are envied by many persons. There is a satisfaction in such genealogical records but by comparison the Chinese leave us far behind, says Capper's Weekly. For example, Dr. H. H. King, former minister of commerce in China, has a genealogy authenticated by documents which traces his ancestry back 75 generations to the great Chinese prophet Confucius who lived 500 years before Christ.

TYPICAL CARROLL SPIRIT

The much rumored Carroll football strike which was threatened and then quelled with sweater measurements probably would not have taken place anyway. There are too many players on the squad, who play football for the sake of the game itself and not for the awards, to allow any general neglect of Spring football practice.

Lonnie Bell a sophomore halfback who is a fine little ball player and who greatly pleased the fans last year is what we like to consider a typical Streak athlete. He considers it an honor to play for the school and believes this reward enough. Here's hoping for more and more athletes of the Lonnie Bell type.

A new wrinkle will be added to the already troubled brow of Tom Conley with the announcement that Ralph Vince has definitely been added to the coaching staff as aid to Ray Watts, Baldwin-Wallace mentor. While at Carroll Mr. Vince made the Streak elevens famous for their line power. With a wealth of material back for the 1936 campaign you will undoubtedly see those brilliant Yellow Jacket backs romping through big holes opened for them by a well coached and powerful Berea forward wall.

GOOD ENDS NEXT YEAR

Coach Tom Conley while at Notre Dame has become renowned for his development of fine ends. Some of the most prominent of the boys whom he has developed were Dominic Vairo, Marty Peters, Hugh DeVore, and Wayne Millner, all of whom were frequently mentioned as All-Americans. He should continue this record at John Carroll for the Streaks have some great end prospects. Gene Wolanski with a few additional pointers from Conley should be even better next year. Johnny Marcus who was out of action most of last year with a broken jaw is tall and rangy, a natural end. Jay Carroll who prepped at Sandusky is also a fine ball player and will be in plenty of games next season. John Hanley is the fighting type of player whom a little expert coaching will greatly improve.

It seems that ends in football and centers in basketball are positions that must have something in common. Wolanski of Carroll, Kelker of Western Reserve, Powell and Davidson of Baldwin-Wallace all were swell ends and fine centers. Both of these positions require men of over average height and of good coordination.

LIFE OF BASEBALL COACH!

Some people think that the job of baseball coach on a major league team is a soft job given to broken down ball players. Let's take a glance at an ordinary day in the life of a coach during spring training. He usually begins practice by leading the ball players in several laps around the outfield in order to loosen up. During batting practice they stand behind the pitcher's box telling him what to throw, watching the batter's weaknesses and the hurler's control. After hitting the ball to infielders and outfielders for about an hour he umpires the scrub game. Then after practice he confers with the umpires and other coaches about suggested improvements for the players. All in all the coach is a pretty valuable and necessary man on any ball club. (Continued on Page 9)

- April 29—Reserve.

Racket Wielders Open Season Soon

John Carroll will start tennis practice this week if the University Heights courts are at all playable. The netters have less than two weeks to get into condition for their first meet. They have only six matches this season, two with each of the Big Four schools. Fenn was originally intended for the schedule but the Foxes have definitely decided to drop the net game from their athletic program. The Blue Streaks open against Reserve on Tuesday, April 29, and this match will probably be played on the latter's court. It will not be decided which of these matches will be at home and which away until the site of the Blue and Gold's home courts is determined. Watch the bulletin board for the announcement of a tennis meeting.

Professional Notes on Golf

By Charley Bill

This is the third of a series of articles on Progress of Golf as a Sport.

There are several reasons for golf courses being built out in the country away from the congestion of the cities. First of all the land costs less and then the golf architect looks for wooded country, rolling land with natural hazards (that is land that has a creek or river running through it). The average yardage for a championship course is between 6100 and 6400 acres. Most golf courses are well drained making the fairways playable shortly after severe rain storms. The greens and fairways are now kept watered during the dry seasons by means of water lines.

The following are definitions of some of the more important golf terms so that they may be understood later in the series when golf shots are described.

"Tee"—the starting point of each hole or the place from which one hits his first shot. It is also the name used for the peg on which the ball is placed before driving.

"Fairway"—the part of the course on which one plays when the ball is kept fairly in a straight line of flight.

"Green"—the place where the cup or hole is located. A finer type of grass distinguishes this from the fairway.

"Rough"—a longer, rougher type of grass which runs parallel to and on each side of the fairway.

"Hazard"—trouble both artificial and natural such as a creek, river, sand trap or bunker.

Streak Football Team Begins Spring Practice Next Week; Complete Schedule Announced

By Ed McCarthy

John Carroll's gridsters will inaugurate their spring football activities within another week. The delay in starting this practice is due to the fact that our new coach, Tom Conley, had to finish up his work as assistant to Elmer Layden at Notre Dame. Yesterday Conley left for South Bend and hopes to be able to complete his business there within a week. Frank Gaul, the new assistant, was also here during the Easter vacation to discuss plans with Conley and school officials. He returns to Notre Dame in order to finish his senior year there.

Frank Gaul To Coach Backs

Frank Gaul, Irish Quarterback Of Last Season, Coaches Streak Ball Carriers; Conley Impresses Student Body

With the acquisition of Frank Gaul as assistant football coach and director of physical education, the Carroll athletic staff needs but one more member to complete its roster. Gaul is probably best known for his signal calling at Notre Dame, especially in that dramatic contest with Ohio State last season. He, however, probably played his best ball last season in the game against Navy. But our new assistant coach did not confine his athletic activities entirely to the gridiron.

His favorite and best sport is baseball and he is at present captain and catcher for the Irish nine. In fact he has become so good at this sport that Tom Conley believes that he has an excellent chance to make the grade with a big league team. He also has been a member of the South Bend boxing team and this sport may in the future become a part of the Carroll intra-mural or even varsity athletic program.

Frank Gaul prepped at Waterville High School in Maine and is 22 years old. The Blue Streaks should develop some real field generals under his tutelage. He will probably not be with the gridsters until next fall as he does not graduate from Notre Dame until this spring. (Continued on Page 9)

Practice, which will necessarily be cut short this year, will be held at Bellefleur field. This is very convenient for the gridsters in comparison with the drills last spring which were held at Edgewater Park. The Bellefleur field is not the best in the world but it is at least a great improvement on former conditions, as the shower and locker rooms are right in connection with the field.

The completed schedule which seems to have Coach Conley somewhat worried, was also recently announced. The Blue Streaks play a nine game schedule, five at home and four on foreign fields. Albion and Miami, who were on our sked last season, have been replaced with Adrian and Kent.

1936 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

- Kent—Friday, Sept. 25 (night).
- Baldwin - Wallace — Friday, Oct. 2 (night).
- Findlay—Friday, Oct. 9 (night).
- Adrian—Friday, Oct. 6 (night).
- Case—Saturday, Oct. 24.
- Akron — Saturday, Oct. 11 (there).
- Western Reserve — Saturday, Nov. 7 (there).
- Dayton — Friday, Nov. 14 (there).
- Ohio U.—Saturday, Nov. 21 (there).

Albion was the team that Carroll opened against last fall and swamped 36 to 0. When one of the weakest teams in Blue Streak history won by this score it seems that Albion is not quite of the caliber of the schools in this section. Adrian was one of our opponents in 1934 and they went back to Michigan smarting under a 27-0 defeat.

Miami drops from the list after a football relationship of two years in which we broke even with the Redskins. Although Kent is a new addition to the football program, the Streaks have met the Golden Flashes on the hardwood for several seasons and have always found them worthy opponents.

Our toughest game next fall will probably be against Ohio University. The Bobcats boast one of the finest teams in the state and overwhelmed the Streaks last year. The Blue and Gold will be out to avenge that humiliating defeat in the next encounter. Our Big Four opponent. (Continued on Page 9)

INTRAMURALS START

Plans are now in progress for Carroll's spring intramural program. Stan Matuszewski and Gene Wolanski are in charge of this sport which has always been one of the most popular of the school's activities. There will be two teams from each class as in the past years and these may be divided into two leagues as has been the custom in basketball. The winning sophomore team of last year will be the favorite to again annex the title.

Handball also has quite a following at Carroll, attracting 52 singles players and 20 doubles teams in the contest last spring. It is hoped that these matches may be run off on the Bellefleur courts.

Carroll's Vanities

After taking a good look at the tough set of Mr. Conley's jaw last Tuesday, three Carroll footballers started training for spring practice.

Item: One carload of congratulations to John Maloney the quietest and hardest working member of Carroll's athletic brotherhood, and his sidekick Al Weiler. Using information gathered by this sheet in last year's survey they have assembled a cinder squad, rounded up a coach, (Mr. Kreider), and a field (U.S.) shall be theirs the moment some member of the faculty confers with Headmaster Peters.

We will give you one guess as to the contents of that letter to Mr. Tom Conley from the Athletic Dept., University of Kentucky, which has waited Mr. Conley's arrival for three weeks . . . Before going any farther Mr. Conley, they held Ohio State to 19 to 6 last year. Remember?

One of the biggest problems facing our new grid-master in assembling the 1936 edition of the Blue Streaks will be psychological. He will have to stamp out the germs of Defeatism with which some of our athletes have been infected . . . Perhaps a transfusion of a little of that Fightin' Irish blood would help.

The resignation from school of Fatica caused much regret among his many friends who had predicted for him a brilliant career in college football.

Genial Gene Wolanski who is scheduled to shine as the Ghost in the forthcoming production of Hamlet has prepared for the part by working himself into a mere shadow of his former self trying to see that everyone got a break in the distribution of athletic awards for this year.

Much time has been spent this spring in trying to inaugurate a track team at Carroll. There is no doubt that this sport should be added to the list of the Blue and Gold athletic activities. However it does not seem to me that it would be practical to start this at the present time. In the first place most of those players whom we were considering as potential stars due to their high school and intramural reputations are at the present ineligible and will remain that way until the semester is up. Thus they will be of no use to a possible track team and without them we would not be able to have a winning team. If we can't have a winning team we do not want any. Also it has been extremely difficult to obtain a practice site and probably by next year a practice field of our own will be available. When all these things are considered collectively it seems better to postpone our cinder path venture until a more opportune time (let's hope that it's next year).

Maybe the sport page does not seem the proper place to mention a carnival but nevertheless Carroll's Golden Jubilee Carnival is of vital interest to all lovers of sport, both participants and fans. The money procured through this means is going to be used in putting in tennis courts, handball courts, ball fields and all the various equipment necessary for these games. Every one must back this affair. As Father Gallagher would say "Dough is what we need and this is how we'll get it."

"Birdie"—playing a hole one stroke under par.

"Eagle"—playing a hole two strokes under par.

Spring Football Starts Next Week

ponents, Reserve, Case and Baldwin-Wallace, will be played as usual and they always furnish strong opposition.

Baldwin-Wallace in particular should have a fine team as they have numerous good linemen returning and a wealth of backfield material. At present the Jackets look like the class of the Big Four.

The contests with the Zippers of Akron and with our traditional rivals the Flyers at Dayton will complete our gridiron activities for the 1936 season.

Gaul Assists Conley As Back Field Coach

Not an exceptionally large boy, he is about the average size for "big time" quarterbacks, being about 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighing between 170 and 175 pounds. He is an extremely likeable boy, being one of the most popular fellows in his class at school.

Coach Tom Conley made a very favorable impression on the student body in general and the athletes in particular at his initial meeting in last week's assembly. His quiet, earnest manner makes one feel that the athletes are really going to work in the future.

His announcement that as athletic director he was going to take as great an interest in intramural activities as in varsity sports met with the approval of the students. This will enable many who were unable in the past to take part in any athletic activities, to obtain this necessary exercise.

Coach Conley seems to be the sort of fellow who will be able to instill that fighting spirit into the athletes. He acquired that spirit himself during his own career as athlete both in high school and in college. The football teams which he played on during his junior and senior years at both Roman Catholic High and Notre Dame did not taste the sting of defeat. His sporting creed might be expressed in the words "I hate to lose." Next year you will see our athletes out there "playing cleanly, not fouling, and hitting the line hard."

Blue Streaks May Have Track Team

After several years of hope and hard work it looks as if Carroll will finally be represented in Cleveland track circles this year.

Using information gathered in a survey of track material conducted by the Carroll News last year, and lining up some surprise talent uncovered in last year's intra-mural meet, track enthusiasts John Maloney and Al Weiler have assembled a very promising squad.

Maloney and Weiler have also bent every effort to secure the use of a track for practice, and as a result permission to use the University School Track is expected in the near future.

The chief hopes of the new team are Lonnie Bell, Bob Canley, Al Weiler, and Bob Thompson in the dashes and middle distances; Maloney, who last year copped the half mile, and Ollie Morrow, erstwhile boxing champ in the mile.

Students Have New Type Of Convocations

Beginning on Wednesday, April 29th, the various departments of the school will take over the students' Convocation.

At the Convocation on April 29th, the English department will inaugurate the series with a presentation of Shakespearean plays.

Following the English department, the Chemistry, Biology, Business Administration, and the Arts Group will take over the Convocation in succeeding weeks.

Each department will present some play or skit which will show off to advantage the various phases of the department. The students of each department will make up the cast for each presentation.

The purpose of these departmental Convocations is to present to the students the benefits of study along each particular branch, and to show them the particular advantages which the department offers.

These Convocations are not to belong exclusively to the various departments. Dean Bracken will probably address the students briefly either before or at the end of each Convocation.

Otting Conducts Ethics Seminar

For the past month Rev. Leonard Otting, S. J., has been conducting weekly seminars for the members of his senior Ethics classes. These meetings take place on Friday evenings at the old school.

Discussions at the weekly meetings are concerned with problems of modern ethics. The usual procedure is for Father Otting to start the program with a lecture; the latter part of the meeting is then taken up with a round-table discussion in which all of the seniors present take part.

Attendance at Father Otting's seminars is optional on the part of the seniors, but the weekly discussions are recognized as being of great value towards the thorough understanding of the Ethics course. That many of the graduating class are cognizant of this fact is testified by the attendance at the seminars held up to this time.

president

Eight years ago the Very Rev. B. J. Rodman, S. J., was appointed president of John Carroll University. Carroll at that time was a forty-two-year-old institution on the west side of Cleveland. Three hundred and fifty students crowded together in an attic and garret above an over-enrolled high school—a cafeteria not large enough to accommodate any one class of the college students—the students' recreation room, a small, dark, gloomy room in the corner of the basement—a group of energetic collegians attempting to create college atmosphere under the most discouraging conditions—these were only a few of the problems which confronted Father Rodman upon his arrival at Carroll. At once he made plans for the erection of new buildings in University Heights. He launched a building fund drive to raise the funds necessary for this program. The stock market crash which occurred in the middle of the drive is now a matter of history. The manner in which Father Rodman kept the campaign forces intact, how he was able to salvage the ruins of an economic depression and put five hundred John Carroll students in the finest college buildings in the state of Ohio, is nothing less than miraculous. He was born and raised in the blue grass region of Kentucky and he bears the unmistakable marks of a true southern gentleman. His very heart is in everything Carroll. When he walks into a student convocation he is greeted by a thunderous roar of sincere applause. Carroll men realize that before them stands the truest friend any college student has ever known. Despite the fact that financial affairs of the university demand that he spend the greater part of his time in his Terminal Tower office he is well acquainted with conditions at the university and has a surprisingly extensive knowledge of the personnel of the Carroll student body. Students who have had personal contact with him declare that he is the first member of the faculty to defend a student and the last to condemn. Time after time has he proven himself to be more than a president, more than an educator. Alumni and students are unanimous in their praise of one of the greatest men Clevelanders have ever known—the Rev. B. J. Rodman, S. J.

dean

On this the fiftieth birthday of John Carroll University we have stopped for a moment from the endless whirl of time to consider the individuals who are now controlling the destinies of our school. You have just met the Rev. B. J. Rodman, S. J., president for the past eight years; now it is our privilege to raise our arms in salute to the man behind the scenes, the man who guides with deft touch the complicated machinery of the university, the man who coordinates the individual and disconnected efforts of professors and students to mold a real Jesuit institution of higher learning, the Rev. Edward J. Bracken, S. J., Dean of John Carroll University. Although he displays a gruff, brusque exterior, Fr. Bracken hides beneath that black cassock of his a heart of gold, and a sympathetic understanding of the problems of the student. Through his efforts the scholastic standard of Carroll, already high, has been raised. Upon his arrival at Carroll some students protested against the rules governing scholastic standards, course requirements, cuts, participation in curricular and extra-curricular activities, and dress upon the campus, which emanated from his office. Yet as the months roll by the Carroll students have realized the wisdom in back of all these rules. They have come to see that each and every one of these rules is prompted by Father Bracken's earnest desire to assist Carroll men in their quest of a real Jesuit education. Father Bracken was appointed Dean at Carroll following the death of the late Rev. Albert C. Fox. Father Fox was considered one of the foremost educators in the United States. His ability as a dean had been publicly recognized by some of the nation's leaders. The respect which Carroll students paid him was nothing less than hero worship. He was beloved by every Carroll man. Hence the position of his successor was not an enviable one. Yet day by day the Carroll students are becoming more appreciative of the work of Father Bracken. The freshmen consider him to be a strict disciplinarian; the seniors consider him to be a real friend. As James Whitcomb Riley once had cause to remark, "one must really know an individual before he is qualified to pass judgment upon him."
