WHO'S WHO in "WE HAVEN'T EVEN STARTED YET"

JANE BRIDGMAN Jane Bridgman is presently a Sophomore, specializing in the field of Political Science. Jane speaks Spanish, as well as English (fluently) and Russian. She has been a native of the Great Lakes Shakespeare Company since she was a toddler. Since speaking her first word ("mama") Jane has studied voice. Jane turned to comedy when she was asked to appear as a guest host at the tender age of fourteen. She enjoys croquet on a sunny afternoon and the "Love Connection" on a rainy day. Aside from appearing in "WE HAVEN'T EVEN STARTED YET!", Jane can be seen appearing daily at a local Kinney Shoe Store.

ELIZABETH DOWD An accomplished child actress, Elizabeth Dowd has come out of retirement once again to grace the stage of John Carroll's Little Theatre. At her untimely withdrawl from society at the age of thirteen, after starring in over 30 motion pictures, she vowed "Never to act again." However, last year she appeared in an Off-Off-Off Broadway production of Riders to the Sea. She has once again agreed, as a special favor to the director to litter the stage with her acting talent in "WE HAVEN'T EVEN STARTED YET!". Elizabeth is a Communications major from Albany, New York, and she claims her main goals in life are universal peace and providing a good home for her four children.

DON'T STOP READING YET..KEEP GOING

MEGAN McLAUGHLIN Megan has waited until the very last possible minute of her entire college career to try out for a play... And has somehow managed to get a part. She wishes to express to the audience her hopes that they will be kind. Aside from dabbling in the arts partaking in this production, Megan peddles Big Boy sandwiches on the week-ends and has been known to grace the courts of the John Carroll Gymnasium as a member of the women's basketball team. Megan graduates in May with a B.A. in English, though her career goals are still a declared "undecided."

MARK PERNA Not only did Mark bring The Prisoner of Second Avenue to the Little Theatre stage last semester, he graduated from John Carroll in December. A veteran of the Little Theater stage (he was only in one show), Mark brought tears to the eyes and joy to the hearts of millions with his portrayal of "Diabetes" in the LTS production of Woody Allen's God in 1983. An avid business form salesman, Mark enjoys memorizing lines and doing impressions of drag racing commercials. Please be nice to him folks, you don't realize what we had to sacrifice to have him join us (we don't either).

JILL SCHONAERTS The newest addition to the cast of "WE HAVEN'T EVEN STARTED YET!," Jill has been selected out of countless applicants to accompany the show on the... the...uh, what is that thing called... Anyway, having already played Carnegie Hall more times than Richard Clayderman, Jill hopes to duet with Liberace.

More WHO'S WHO:

KATE HOGAN Last seen in Hong Kong, Rome, and Paris (all on the same night) White female caucasian, blue hair, black lips, and a spiked dog collar. Kate is said to be barbarous and stone drunk. While under the influence of Middle Eastern hallucinagens, she performed Moliere's The Miser and LTS All the Way Home(as Aunt Hanna) before a receptive crowd of immigration officials. In 1984, assuming she was on the beach, Kate won the Cleveland Theater Conference Award and a scholarship starring as "Ada" in Starstruck. If found, tell her that her mother wants her to phone home.

SCOTT KRUSINSKI Bats right, throws right, and hopes of being taller; but his parents wouldn't let him have a dog. Enjoys Belushi movies (before he died), polka music, and laughing. Like most Americans, a Cub fan. Scott owns more than 200 comedy albums, but his stereo is broken...Once took a bath and lived to tell about it... Is responsible for "Laugh Dammit", Tuesdays from 7-9 pm on WUJC 88.7 FM...Lives by the words of Thomas Garvey who once told him: "Never do a favor for anyone that involves the word 'Indiana'..."...Once went trick-or-treating as a refrigerator...Wants to meet girl who's done the same.

OKAY, SO IT'S BAD SPACING....

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

I really didn't know what to expect when I set out to tackle this strange offshoot of the theater. Stuff like this either works or it doesn't; and after having worked with this funny group of people for the past eight weeks, seeing the idea and the concept grow from a silly notion to a working model, I can safely say we've made it worthwhile. Thanks guys!

Here's to a great show...Let's just hope the audience likes it,

BILL SGRO Bill is a 5'7" 145 pound Senior English major hailing from Solon, Ohio. Aside from his B.A. in English (he's sharing one with Megan), Bill will be graduating with a M.A. in Usonian Architecture, a M.A. in Genetic Engineering, and a Ph.D. in Pottery. Bill is also a world-class golfer, winning three U.S. Opens and twice at Augusta. Bill has other accomplishments too...He had the role of "Trichinosis" in the LTS production of Woody Allen's God in 1983, and he is also frequently heard Thursday evenings at 9 pm on Carroll Radio Theater. Bill enjoys fine wine, fast cars, exciting witty, intelligent, liberal, lighthearted, old fashioned girls. In his spare time, Bill enjoys sleeping.

JOE TOMCZAK The creator of this entire shebang from the very concept...Still trying to figure out what he set out to accomplish. A Senior Coomunications major, Joe has put all his marbles in a quest to become the greatest film director in the history of mankind (or maybe in the top fifty)...Hopes to be attending film school next fall (if he can sell enough pencils over the summer). Joe likes many things (a list is being withheld in fear that it might lead to his arrest). He hopes that the audience enjoys the show, though he thinks they have been smuggling fruit and vegetables in the door for target practice...

OH THAT'S RIGHT...JILL PLAYS THE PIANO!
