

The John Carroll Review

Volume 76 | Issue 1

Article 60

The Office

Morgan Edwards

John Carroll University, medwards25@jcu.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://collected.jcu.edu/jcr>

Part of the Fiction Commons, Nonfiction Commons, Photography Commons, and the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Edwards, Morgan () "The Office," The John Carroll Review: Vol. 76: Iss. 1, Article 60.

Available at: <https://collected.jcu.edu/jcr/vol76/iss1/60>

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by the Student at Carroll Collected. It has been accepted for inclusion in The John Carroll Review by an authorized editor of Carroll Collected. For more information, please contact mchercourt@jcu.edu.

The Office

Morgan Edwards

The John Carroll cross country team recently got a new lavish team office.
Complete with couches, bean bag chairs,
a treadmill, elliptical, and stationary bike.
Can't forget the TV equipped with every streaming service known to man.
Hence why the office is never empty.
I sit comfortably on a tan bean bag chair,
the harmonies of college runners
surround me as I work on a discussion post.
Some 90's movie on the screen,
the biology majors huddled around a table,
anxiously studying for an upcoming exam.
The upperclassmen guys joking
"This is why I like your cousin more than you"
I'm never quite sure what the context is.
The sophomore girls protest
for them to change the channel.
Audrey peacefully reading,
unbothered by the ruckus around her.
Jett, getting his workout on the elliptical.
It seems he has been injured forever.
My favorite place on campus,
represented by a jumbled symphony
of a team coming together.
An unsupervised, non compulsory community.
Just your average Wednesday.