University tuition to increase next fall

by Stephen Archacki
Staff Reporter

Tuition rates will be increased again for John Carroll's Arts and Sciences, Business, and Graduate Schools for the 1986-87 academic year. The cost of an undergraduate credit hour will increase $15.

According to Fr. T.P. O'Malley, President of JCU, "The tuition increase will go primarily into two areas. First of all, we are increasing student aid, in view of the tuition increase itself, and in view of declining federal assistance programs."

By increasing the university's tuition, more money is awarded to the college to meet the rising costs. In addition, these costs keep increasing themselves.

"Secondly," Fr. O'Malley continued, "the amortization of the recreation center, on which we will begin to pay off principal costs in 1986-87 brings two considerable charges to bear on the budget."

The budget for next fall's semester will contribute about half of the increases to the University's faculty payroll. The staff members may receive a salary increase.

Debbie Scharlott, junior, remarked, "People like me are putting themselves through college. Raising the tuition, again, will cause more havoc for me trying to do it on my own."

Fire breaks out

by Tom Lynch

A small fire broke out in the basement of the cafeteria last Thursday night.

The fire, which occurred in the Sump Pump and Storage room, was caused when an electrical charger connected to a floor buffing machine shorted out. A small electrical fire resulted.

All of the people in the recplex were evacuated and the University Heights Fire Department responded to the call more out of caution than necessity.

"The damage resulting from the fire was negligible, some water filled up in the sump pump and one plastic bucket burned, causing a lot of smoke," said Ed Whitman, Director of SAGA.

The electrical charger and the buffing machine were the property of John Carroll University, but belonged to Preferred Cleaning Co., an outside contractor hired by the University for janitorial services.

Though it is being investigated, the cause of the fire appears to be mere chance, not negligence.

The precautions being taken by SAGA to prevent another similar occurrence include having Preferred Cleaning Co. remove their machines from the room and replacing the burned cords.

Because the fire was out of the way and of such a small size, no one would have been endangered, even during a dinner rush, just given a little excitement in their lives.

Communication Dept. ranks

by Julia Spiker
News Editor

Ranked sixth among 14 other universities and colleges as a recommended undergraduate program, John Carroll's Communication Department made a first appearance in the book, Rugg's Recommendations on the Colleges, 1986-1987.

"We're real pleased that we're in there, especially with the schools that are listed," said Dr. Jackie J. Schmidt, chairwoman of the Communication Department.

"We ranked as high as we did because of the range, variety and depth of our course offerings, as well as the type of experiences we offer the students."

The Communication Department was rated "very selective" along with 14 other universities and colleges.

"In the past, only the business school was listed, but this time the Communication Department was also included," said Laryn D. Runco, Admissions Counselor.

The author, Frederick E. Rubb who is also a high school guidance counselor, included 400 institutions and over 10,000 students.

Leadership program offered

By Liz Murphy
Staff Reporter

Ursuline College will host a Student Leadership workshop on Sunday, February 2, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., in Rooms 212 and 213 of the Mullen Administration Building.

The program will be sponsored by the International Student Leadership Institute, Inc. (ISLI), and will be presented by Reverend Peter Crynes, former Director of the Northeastern Council of Youth.

Dean of Students, Richard McNally, is encouraging students, especially organization officers. "Participation in organizations offers results in leadership, but this is a different program, in the sense that it focuses on the philosophy of leadership skills, and students should take advantage of this program which is rarely offered," said McNally. The ISLI workshops are usually only presented on the campus of Notre Dame University, Indiana.

The goal of the program is to improve leadership effectiveness and productivity, by sharpening the skills of organizational, interpersonal, technical, decision-making and problem solving.

There is a $15.00 registration fee for the workshop, but the Student Affairs office is offering a limited number of free registrations. "We feel it is an important program, and if there are students willing to participate, we will cover the costs," said McNally.

Persons interested in attending the program should submit their names to the office of Student Affairs.

JCU moves WUJC

by Julia Spiker
News Editor

Over Christmas break, JCU's radio station, WUJC, made its big move from its old studio in Grasselli Tower to its new studio in the basement of the recplex.

The station signed off for the last time in its old location at the end of the day on Saturday, January 11. Within the two following days, the move was completed and by Monday, January 13, the equipment was in place and WUJC was back on the air.

"We're in a couple step process. We basically, wanted to get in the new studio right now," said Dan Polletta, Program Director.

"We have fixed up things now as temporary. There are future plans to update some of the equipment. We're glad to have finally gotten there."

Payment Due

With the new decision to once again raise tuition, the John Carroll community is caught in a Catch-22.

On the one hand, the students now enjoy the benefits of new, expanded facilities designed to enhance the quality of life at Carroll, but at the same time they battle with rising tuition costs as a direct result of these improvements.

It is the administration's position that the university is highly dependent on enrollment to survive, and that it was toward this end that extensive improvements have been made around campus.

Yet since making these improvements, the administration has been forced to raise tuition in order to meet these new costs. In the case of students who will be footing their own bills, higher tuition rates are a major deterrent toward choosing a particular college or university.

It has been said there ain't no free lunches. Nothing is free. Everyone was happy about the construction of the new recreation center and all of the other goodies, but now the time has come to pay the piper.

Although for some, this tuition increase may be the straw that breaks the student's back, it should come as no surprise.

Any student who thought the recreation center was a gift of a kind and benevolent deity, must now surely realize that we are the ones helping to foot the bill.

Open All Night

Final exams connote feelings of depression, anxiety, and panic among other despondent thoughts. Last semester's finals certainly were no exception, but there was one major bright spot in the preparation for those fun-filled inquisitions.

Through the efforts of the office of student affairs with cooperation from security and Saga foods, the Recplex and the library were open around the clock to provide quiet and safe places to study. A definite need for study areas existed and the administration met the needs.

Not only did the administration open the Recplex for study, it also allowed the athletic facilities to be kept open to be used to clear a tired mind, to rejuvenate a stiff body. Studying is not just sitting in front of a notebook and this fact is understood by the administration and this understanding is appreciated by the students.

According to Dr. James Lavin, Vice-President for Student Affairs, all went well and the facilities will be open again for this semester's final exams.

The Carroll News wishes to commend those responsible for providing much needed area to study after midnight. It is encouraging to see the administration achieve the most of its facilities while providing safety as well as convenience for studying purposes.

All new ideas must be experimented and this experiment has proven itself to be most successful. The Carroll News hopes that this is only a sign of what is to come for meeting the changing needs of all the students at John Carroll.

Letters to the Editor

President calls for elections

The start of another semester is upon us. But this semester is a bit different from others, it is the first semester in our universities Centennial Year. In the upcoming year, there will be more resources and opportunities available to the John Carroll student than ever before.

It's up to student groups to put these resources to work and make this a more enjoyable year for everyone. The upcoming Student Union general elections is a perfect way for a JCU student to put their ideas to work to make things happen. Any student in good academic standing is eligible to run for an executive office. Nominations will be taken at the Student Union meetings on January 28 and February 4. I would encourage all of you to consider taking a role in planning activities and events for the year to come.

So go beyond the classrooms and dormitories this year. Expand your boundaries so your endeavors don't just effect your GPA, but your classmates as well. Become active in the Student Union: It's not just a job, it's an adventure!

Richard M. Gorman
President Student Union

Mayor's Salutations

The City of University Heights enthusiastically welcomes back to the campus all John Carroll students and faculty at the outset of the new year. Your second in 1986 will represent a unique opportunity to complete the university's Centennial celebration. It has been our pleasure to be part of these festivities which were given special attention at our Community Awards Dinner on November 16, 1985 when Father Thomas P. O'Malley was named "Citizen of the Year" and a specially designed Centennial flag was presented to the university in honor of its 100th birthday. A duplicate of that flag will be permanently housed in the Council Chambers at City Hall. The entire program of that evening will be available for viewing on Viacom public access Channels 27 and 32 during this month and we hope you will have an opportunity to see it.

Earlier, the City also presented the University with a gift of 100 trees to be planted around the perimeter of the campus and the first 20 were planted and commemorated during the city's annual Arbor Day ceremony on November 22, 1985 in front of the gym at Belvoir and Washington Boulevards. This ceremony was taped for a segment of "University Heights Today" which was shown on Channel 27 during December. A copy of same is available for viewing at the Lee Road branch of the Cleveland Heights-University Heights Library.

The City's final tribute to John Carroll this year will be during the Memorial Day Parade to be held on Monday, May 26, 1986. The theme of the Parade will include the 100th birthday of John Carroll University. As many of you as would like to march in the parade, or enter a float, students, staff, administrators, to accompany Father O'Malley and our other Parade guests, will be most welcome. This is another way to visually display the praises of John Carroll University.

As you can tell from all of the above we are very proud, indeed, to be the home town of the prestigious John Carroll University and we hope that the next 100 years will be as successful in educating young minds as the first.

Mayor Beryl E. Rothschild
City of University Heights

Financial aid opportunities decrease costs

by Ann Daley

This week has been designated Financial Aid Awareness Week by the office of Financial Aid at John Carroll. Throughout the week, presentations and information meetings will be held for parents, incoming freshmen, and present students. The focus will be on different groups each night, including information on available financial aid, as well as providing the necessary applications.

On Thursday, January 23, the week continues with a presentation for parents of current JCU students applying for aid for the 1986-87 school year. The meeting will be held in the Jardine Room at 7:30 p.m.

Friday's general open house in the Financial Aid office concludes the week. Students can stop in at any time during the day to pick up applications and get additional information.

Here in Ohio, many forms of financial aid are available to students. These awards are usually based on need and/or academic ability, and availability of funds.

The Guaranteed Student Loan and National Direct Student Loan are two low-interest loans available to students who demonstrate financial need. These loans are to be repaid after a grace period following graduation.

Student grants, such as the Ohio Instructional Grant, Pell Grant, and Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant are need-based, non-repayable awards. A recently-introduced grant, the Student Choice Grant, is designed for any Ohio resident enrolled for the first time in a postsecondary institution. This program is administered through the Ohio Board of Regents in conjunction with the student's school.

The College Work-study Program is a federally-funded program in which students earn money for college expenses through an on-campus job.

Since applications and these forms of assistance take time to process and review, any student seeking aid should complete applications during the previous January or February. Applications for some loans should be completed in June.

Questions about one's eligibilities or about these programs can best be answered by the Financial Aid office, which has complete information about the grants, loans, scholarships, and jobs that are available.

Blood drive sponsored

by Maria Evans

A Blood Drive will be sponsored by the Red Cross and ROTC on January 29 and 30, in the Jardine Room from 12:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

This year's goal has been set at 250 pints of blood.

"The first fall I was here, we had a total of 370 pints given. That's the most ever given here and it would be nice if we could break that record," said Major Kenneth R. Rider, Military Science Department.

Last fall a goal was set at 200 pints. In the two day period a total of 216 pints of blood had been donated.

The past years have found that the majority of donors have been students; according to the Military Science Department. This year, they hope to involve more of the faculty and administration.

Donating blood is a simple process which takes less than one hour.

The Alumni Relations Office is looking for A FEW GOOD MEN AND WOMEN to work REUNION WEEKEND 1986. The hours are 6:00 p.m. Wednesday, May 28th through 6:00 p.m. Sunday, June 1st.

We need dorm clerks, bartenders, and counselors. Experience not required — willingness to learn and ability to relate to alumni are necessary! Apply in person in the Alumni Office — second floor Recplex above the Bookstore. See Tim, Nicki, or Maureen for an application. They will be accepted until February 20th.

Graduate guide available

Copies of the 1986 Graduate School Guide have been received in John Carroll's Career Planning and Placement Office.

This directory contains information about master's and doctoral degree programs at over 400 colleges and universities in the Northeast and Midwest. Every graduate degree program is listed along with majors, tuition, names of deans, and campus addresses. A cross-reference section is provided so that students can quickly identify those schools which offer the degree program they are interested in.

In addition, the directory includes a section of student reply cards which make it easy for students to write away for literature and application forms.

Free copies of this guide are available while they last.

Tuition increase

On the other hand, Elain Gruden, freshman, added, "Nobody really should complain! The new recreation center, excellent faculty, and the overall nice appearance of the college is well worth it. They influenced me to come to JCU."

The planned 9% increase will result in a $182 charge per credit hour for undergraduate students. In the past, however, the increase has been in the double digits percentage wise.

JCU remains one of the more inexpensive private colleges in Ohio even after the increase.

"I am fond of saying this is a fragile institution, very much dependent on enrollment. We have numerous pressures bearing on us as we build next year's budget. We operate on a "merit" system of increases," Fr. O'Malley said.

Huffman leads cagers to 4-2 mark over break

Behrend drops Blue Streak to 5-8

by Mark Amendola and Gerg Koerner

Monday night the men hoopsters traveled to Erie, Pa. to battle the Cubs of Penn State-Behrend and came up on the short end of a 96-78 score. The Cubs' inside game and poor Blue Streak foul shooting proved to be the major detriments.

Although the Streaks out-scored Behrend 53-51 in the second period, our cagers never recovered from a 20 point halftime deficit.

"Because we were down by so much so early, we could not play effective catch-up ball with such a physical team," commented coach Tim Baab.

Freshman Craig Huffman led the team with 26 points, 6 rebounds, and 6 assists. Steve Rayl added 20 points while Andy Juhola connected for 16 markers.

Over the semester break, the Streaks compiled a 4-2 slate which included wins over Wilmington, Hiram, Thiel, and Bethany. The two setbacks came at the hands of Case Western Reserve and Carnegie-Mellon.

The cager's overall record now stands at 5-8, but a very respectable 3-1 in the PAC. The next game is at Washington and Jefferson on Saturday, January 25.

ALL CAUGHT UP — A JCU grappler takes charge of an opponent in action at Case Western.

Wrestlers win on coasts

by Tom Maggio

While Carroll students were enjoying their break the JCU wrestling team was travelling across the country recording some impressive victories.

In Orlando, Florida December 30, 31, the Blue Streaks finished third of 26 teams in the Sunshine Invitational. Only Division I Clemson and Indiana were better. Sam Walker (177) and Greg Finnan (190) took second places.

On January 8 the grapplers journeyed to Trenton, New Jersey to face the top-ranked and defending Division III national champions Trenton State. The 10th-ranked Streaks upset Trenton by a 27-16 score. Recording pins were Pete Insana (150) and Sam Walker (177).

In Los Angeles, January 11 John Carroll captured the Biola Tournament by out-distancing second place

California State — Fullerton, 153 1/4-121. The Streaks faced nine Division I teams. All 10 wrestlers placed and four won their weight classes. Pete Hayek (126), Tom Bennett (142), and Walker (177) had first place finishes.

Last weekend at the Ohio Collegiates, JCU took a disappointing third place in a five team field.

Today the wrestlers travel to Hiram. This Saturday and Sunday John Carroll will host the National Catholic Invitational.

STREAK SCRIBBLES: The team has lost several players since the season opener including 7th leading scorer in JCU history, Herb Cunningham, who quit the team in December...Jim Berger underwent arthroscopic knee surgery and is hoped to return in two weeks...Baab activated Andy Palmer to mend the dented roster, which is most notably hurt at the center position...Huffman had 34 points in the CWRU loss, matching his season high. He has led the team in scoring in 8 of 13 games. He was named PAC "player of the week" last week in recording 11 rebounds, 14 assists on 31 of 53 from the field (58%) and 10 of 13 from the foul line (77%)...The team is shooting only 64% from the total line...next home game vs. Baldwin-Wallace is on Monday night...

Swimmers open conference action

by Mark Trainor Staff Reporter

West Palm Beach, Florida was the training site for the men and women swimmers over semester break, as they toned-up for the start of the PAC season.

Two workouts a day, and an invitational relay in Orlando was on the agenda before the teams returned to the natatorium to host Case Western Reserve on the 16. Both the men and women defeated Case before traveling to Carnegie Mellon for their Jan. 18 PAC opener. The women narrowly downed the Tartans in the final event of the meet, the free relay, but the men fell to 0-1 in its conference standings that afternoon.

Mike Weber was a triple winner in both meets, winning the individual medley, breast-stroke and medley relay.

Freshman Chris Villari also turned in strong performances in both meets.

Lisa Billhardt continues to out-distance opponents, and freshman Mary Kovach swam a strong 200m freestyle to take a second place at CMU.

The Streaks host Hiram this afternoon at 4 pm. and continue PAC action on February 1 when they host Grove City at 1 pm.

Hockey vs. Dayton

This weekend the Blue Streaks host the Flyers of Dayton University in what Coach Ken Krsolovic describes as "the biggest games in the history of the Carroll Hockey team."

The teams will battle twice. The Friday and Saturday contests are set to face-off at 10:30 at Thornton Park Arena in Shaker Heights.
