First Impressions...

John Carroll welcomes you

Dear incoming Freshmen,

It is my delight to welcome you to John Carroll University as the Freshmen Class of 1993-1994. You have become a part of an institution that, itself, is a part of a 450-year-old tradition of Jesuit education. We are a university that is both professional and friendly. We welcome you into the family of this university and hope that your undergraduate years will help you grow intellectually and spiritually. I look forward to being able to give you your diploma a few years from now when you complete your undergraduate education.

Sincerely,

Working for you

* * *

On behalf of the Student Union, we would like to officially welcome you to John Carroll University. Welcome to some of the best years of your life.

The Student Union is the student government here at John Carroll. In this capacity it works as an intermediary between the administration and the student body. This organization works for you. If you have any problems or difficulties - please feel free to call an executive officer or a member of your class board for help. If you don't like something here at Carroll, let us know. Rest assured, we will do our best to help you with your concerns.

The Student Union is comprised of 36 Senators, the executive board, over seventy-one student run organizations, and you! Every student is a member of the Student Union. Organizations will be having informational meetings for new students to get involved. We encourage you to get involved and see all that John Carroll University has to offer.

The Union is also responsible for sponsoring social events for the student body, ranging from Homecoming and Christmas Formal to the annual 3-on-3 tournament and Welcome Back Week.

Every Tuesday at 5:15 the Student Union Senate meets in the Jardine Room. Come to one of these meetings if you are interested in getting involved or just want to find out about what is available. If your interests include running for an elected office, freshmen class elections will be held about six weeks into the school year. Either way, it is a great way to get to know more people and to make your years at Carroll all the more memorable.

An insider's guide

Welcome freshmen! One of the ways to make your transition into college life easier is to know your way around the most important places of John Carroll University.

Early in the year, problems with tuition, financial aid and scheduling are common. If you have a question or problem with your financial aid package, you can go to the Financial Aid office, which is located on the first floor of the Administration Building (on the side with all the construction).

On the other end of the same hall is the Student Service Center, which is a most helpful place for students, hence the name. If you are low on money, you can write a check out to yourself and cash it there. It is the place to go to take care of two of the aforementioned problems. First, if you've lost a copy of your schedule, you can get another one here. Secondly, it is where you can pay your tuition. And if you wish to drop a class or pick one up, this is the place to do so.

In the basement of the same building is the Mail Room, a place that is important to know if you need to pick up a package. You can also buy postage and mail packages there.

Another very important building on campus is the Rec Plex, or the Student Activities Center, because it houses several campus offices.

The first thing you see when you walk in this building (from the campus side doors) is the Bookstore. This is where you buy your books. But you probably knew that.

Up the stairs is the sporty side of campus. The gym and racquetball courts are there.

If you go down the first set of stairs the first office on the right is Residence Life, which is where to go in case you lose your I.D. or if you want to change your meal plan. Along the same hallway are WUJC and The Carroll News, the campus radio station and newspaper office, respectively. The latter is a great place to hang out, after all, you can find me there sometimes.

Down the hall between The Carroll News office and the Residence Life office you can find the Part Time Placement office if you are interested in working on campus part time. Across the hall from The Carroll News is the weight room and the cardiovascular center, great places to stay in shape.

Continuing on down the hallway is the music room, where the choir and band practice, and the Student Union Office, where a lot of silliness goes on. (Just kidding, Phil.)

If you go down the stairs at the end of the hall, you will find yourself in the Inn Between, a place with a snack bar in case you are hungry. If you ignore the unfortunate color scheme, it can be a place to hang out, eat, or study.

Off the Inn Between is the cafeteria, where you will probably spend most of your time. (At least I do.)

Across the street, next to East Hall on Belvoir, are two University owned houses, which is where the Cooperative Education and the Counseling Offices are located. If things aren't going so well or you're just really stressed, it may be helpful to talk to someone in the Counseling Office.

Hopefully, I've covered all the most important places on campus. But if you have any other questions, don't be afraid to ask. Most people are pretty nice.

Rapid movement

Did your books cost a little more than you expected? Did you suddenly realize that you needed some new John Carroll t-shirts? Money seems to go so much faster at college and before you know it you only have a few dollars left for entertainment. Not to worry.

The cheapest and perhaps most interesting form of entertainment is discovering Cleveland and the surrounding suburbs. There is a lot to see and a lot to experience.

For starters, just about one mile south of John Carroll is the Belvoir Rapid Transit stop. For only $1.25 the rapid can take you to such places as Shaker Square, Terminal Tower (Public Square and Tower City), and even to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport.

Shaker Square serves as home to the Colony Theater, many boutiques, recently opened Yours Truly restaurant, and the ever famous Arabica. For those of you who are not familiar with Arabica, it is not only a coffee shop, it is an experience.

Terminal Tower provides the ultimate shopping experience at Tower City mall. What used to be an old train station in the basement is now home to movie theaters, many places to eat, and some of the greatest stores in Cleveland. Many times there is a line just to get into The Disney Store and Warner Brothers, but you won't find that problem at other places like J. Crew and Dillard's.

Other attractions downtown include the Galleria at Erieview, the Old Arcade and Municipal Stadium which is home of the Browns and Indians. Soon, Gateway, home of the Cavaliers and Indians, will be opening also.

If you prefer to stay a little closer to campus, there is plenty of options within a mile radius of John Carroll.

Kaufman's Department store is at the corner of Warrensville and Cedar as is Cedar Center. Some of the places in Cedar Center include Pier One Imports, TCBY (The Country's Best Yogurt), Little Caesars, and Marc's Drug Store (good for bargain shopping!)

Even if you don't feel like shopping, a walk around University Heights is enjoyable. The magnificent homes and beautifully landscaped lawns are a must see. Just pick a direction to go and enjoy the winding streets. If you get lost, just look for Grasselli Tower to lead you back to campus.

Living on campus can be a lot of fun, but there are times when you will need to get away. There is a lot to be seen, and the rapid is a cheap way to see it all. Get out, have fun, and enjoy your four (or five) year stay!

John Carroll: It may not be Disneyland, but it's better than the dentist

Nora Mackin
Editorial Editor

You've come to John Carroll to study (as your parents will no doubt remind you), but there are some times when the books can wait. So what do you do then?

On our very own campus we have the pubby atmosphere of the Wolf & Pot. Pool tables, bands, movies, wings — a place to hang out all week long. On the stage of the Administration Buildings' Kulas Auditorium you can see plays and concerts. On the screen which hangs from the ceiling in Kulas Auditorium you can see, or hear (but usually not both) movies sponsored by the Student Union. Also a source of theatrical entertainment is the Marinello Little Theater.

For a dining experience which does not involve trays, Pizzazz is just a walk down to Fairmount Circle. Geraci's is at the corner of Warrensville and Silsby and Corky & Lenny's (home of the world's meanest waitresses - but in good way) is at Cedar Center. If you have a car, you can go to Little Italy (on Mayfield Road). You can get good, cheap pizza and pasta at Mama Santa's or donuts at Presti's. For the slightly more daring, a trip through downtown, over the Detroit-Superior Bridge will get you to The Big Egg. It's mandatory, however, that you go to The Big Egg at an obscenely early hour.

If you're in the mood for a movie, Loehman's Plaza has flicks for $1.50 ($1.00 on Tuesdays). The Centrum Theater on Coventry and Severence Center have movies for the regular sky-high prices. The Cedar Lee Theater (on Lee, near Cedar) shows movies that are less mainstream and sometimes even have subtitles. The Cleveland Cinematique's film series has a potpourri of documentaries, foreign films and even cartoons.

If you'd like to spend some time outside, the Shaker Lakes are a 15 minute bike ride down North Park Boulevard. Here, you can look at the City of Beautiful Homes' beautiful homes or hang out by the lake. You can also check out the falls in Chagrin Falls or take a hike in the Cuyahoga Valley National Recreation Area.

You can do some shopping at Beachwood Place and Severence Mall, both accessible by bus. There's Coventry, which is an area of shops on Coventry in Cleveland Heights (a nuclear free zone). When you go to Coventry, you have to go to a store called Big Fun. Where else can you buy a Mikhail Gorbachev key chain or a flying steak. If you need toothpaste or food or potting plants and you're feeling really brave, you can go to the Indianapolis 500 of discount shopping — Marc's at Cedar Center. You can do some shopping downtown by catching the Green Road Rapid at the end of Belvoir. Tower City, the Old Arcade and the Galleria are all there.

Music-wise there are concerts at Blossom Music Center (the last on is September 11, though), the Nautica Stage in the Flats, the Agora and the Coliseum. You can sometimes find an all-ages show at Peabody's Cafe or the Euclid Tavern. For a more cultural experience, the Cleveland Orchestra plays at Severence Hall.

You should try to check out the Cleveland Indians during their final days at Municipal Stadium (don't wait until the last three games though, unless you have connections with corporate Cleveland). The Cavs, the Browns and the Lumberjacks are Cleveland's other arguably professional sports teams.

There's more to do around here, but these suggestions should keep you busy, and maybe even leave some time for studying.

And a few last words

Meghan Gourley
Editor-in-Chief

As an upperclassman, one would expect to know where classrooms and departments are located. However, here in John Carroll Land, where numbers don't run numerically and letters don't run alphabetically, the words O'Dea 3 and SB 110 appearing on our schedules can cause a bit of panic.

So here it is one more time.

Your schedule

First, it's best to decipher what all those little letters mean on your schedule. For example, if your schedule reads:

- EN211 Spalding SC 110
- EN indicates the department (English).
- 211 is the course number
- Spalding is the instructor for that course.
- The class meets in the Science Building, room 110 (SC110).

The first day

The first day of classes can be a traumatic experience for freshmen and new students, so the best advice one could offer is to just relax and take it slow. It's not unlikely to walk into the wrong room and not realize it until half way through the class.

Another overwhelming aspect of the first day lies in syllabuses. Instructors almost always distribute syllabuses and map out what course expectations are. The work load appears heavy, and honestly, it usually is; however, don't ignore the attendance requirement.

Classes and credits

Then there is always the issue of dropping classes. There are many pros and cons when it comes to dropping classes and it is a decision that should be thoroughly thought out.

Carrying a full load of credits can be a burden and in some instances it would be best to drop a class if your entire workload will suffer. However, you must take into consideration that a class dropped will have to be made up sooner or later.

Buying books

Unlike the first day of high school classes when the instructor passes out the book you will use, here you must buy them. To be frank about it, books are expensive. But there are many alternatives to buying new books at the bookstore.

First go to class. Ask the instructor if all the required texts will be used. If required texts are used exclusively outside of class, ask a neighbor to split the cost and share the book.

Also, students sell their used books. (That's what the hordes of people are doing staring at the wall in the Rec Plex)- so that is always an easy quick way to save a few bucks. In the end you can not only save money, but also hours of standing in line at the bookstore.

In a nutshell

Lots of information has been thrown at you and will continue to be for the next week or so. But try and remember that college is a stepping stone through life and a continuing learning experience.

It is impossible to know everything you need to know about college before you even begin college. The more mistakes you make, the more you'll learn. The truth of the matter is that we are adults now. Whether or not to get out of bed and go to class is entirely up to you. But you will also be the one to suffer the consequences.

A few last pieces of advice, don't assume anything- ASK QUESTIONS! Get the feel for things before you make any decisions, and no matter what, have fun these next few years; you are not accomplishing anything if you are not having fun.
