Attention : Off-Campus JCU Students

John Carroll students who reside with other students in off-campus housing in University Heights should be familiar with City regulations that govern the occupancy of residential property by unrelated persons. The regulations are similar to those that exist in other communities. Their purpose generally is to preserve the residential character and quality of residential neighborhoods.

Stated as simply as possible, the City—

- Prohibits more than three unrelated persons from occupying any residential unit, whether owned or rented, without special permit from the City's Board of Zoning Appeals.
- Requires that one occupant be designated "head of household" whenever a residential unit is occupied by two or more unrelated persons. Occupants who are unrelated to the head of household are regarded as "roomers." No more than two roomers may occupy a residential unit unless the head of household has obtained a special permit.

All students living in University Heights, other than those living with their families, should become familiar with the details of the City's regulations. A copy can be obtained at City's Building Department, located at City Hall, 2300 Warrensville Center Road. Telephone number: 932-7800.

As we begin another academic year, I also would like to note that most John Carroll students who live off-campus are very good neighbors. Yet, occasionally, we do receive complaints. For the most part, they are related to noise late at night, parking violations, and property maintenance. Although infrequent, these situations cause friction with neighbors and city officials.

So, again this year, I make a brief appeal to everyone. When you move into a neighborhood, introduce yourself to your neighbors and get to know them. Ask if there are some ways you can be helpful, particularly to those who are elderly or infirm. In short, be neighborly. You will find that your neighbors will return your good will and you may make some lasting friendships.

 Joe Farrell
 Dean of Students

Solutions start with Student you-nion

The Student Union belongs to you. The Student Union is here to facilitate your college experience. Moreover, the Student Union is here to help define OUR college experience. In order for the Student Union to help make our college years more memorable - WE NEED YOU.

The Student Union meets every Tuesday at 5:15 in the Jardine Room. You are always invited because it is your meeting. We need help to assist with our goals of providing social activities, service projects, and a means to conquer any distress in your life. Together, there is nothing we cannot do.

Come help with Homecoming, with the Review Committee or the Academics Committee by seeing Dennis Percy, the Vice-President. Come help with the Big Brothers/Big Sisters project, pick up your Freshman Record, or help us make signs and publicize events by seeing Kristi Vadino, the Secretary.

Come help with the Finance Committee, buy a discount card, or help set up the 3 on 3 tournaments by seeing Mike Colyer, the Treasurer. Come help with investigations and justice by seeing Bill Glunz, the Chief Justice. Come help with Commuter Affairs, the Food Committee or Parents Weekend by seeing Doralice Tavorario, the Director of Internal Affairs.

Get involved with making things happen by seeing Bob Morris, the chairperson of Special Events. Talk about issues that are dear to you by seeing Megan Mooney, Erin Shaugnessy, or Eric Rapp - the chairpeople of Student Issues. Serve others through community service by seeing Nancy McGunn and Megan Clifford of Project Gold.

Come see John Cranley anytime for anything. We care about you. Come to the Student Union meetings and office. These activities and places belong to you. John Carroll belongs to you. Let's work together.

There's a lot happening. Be a part of the solution - JOIN YOUR STUDENT UNION!

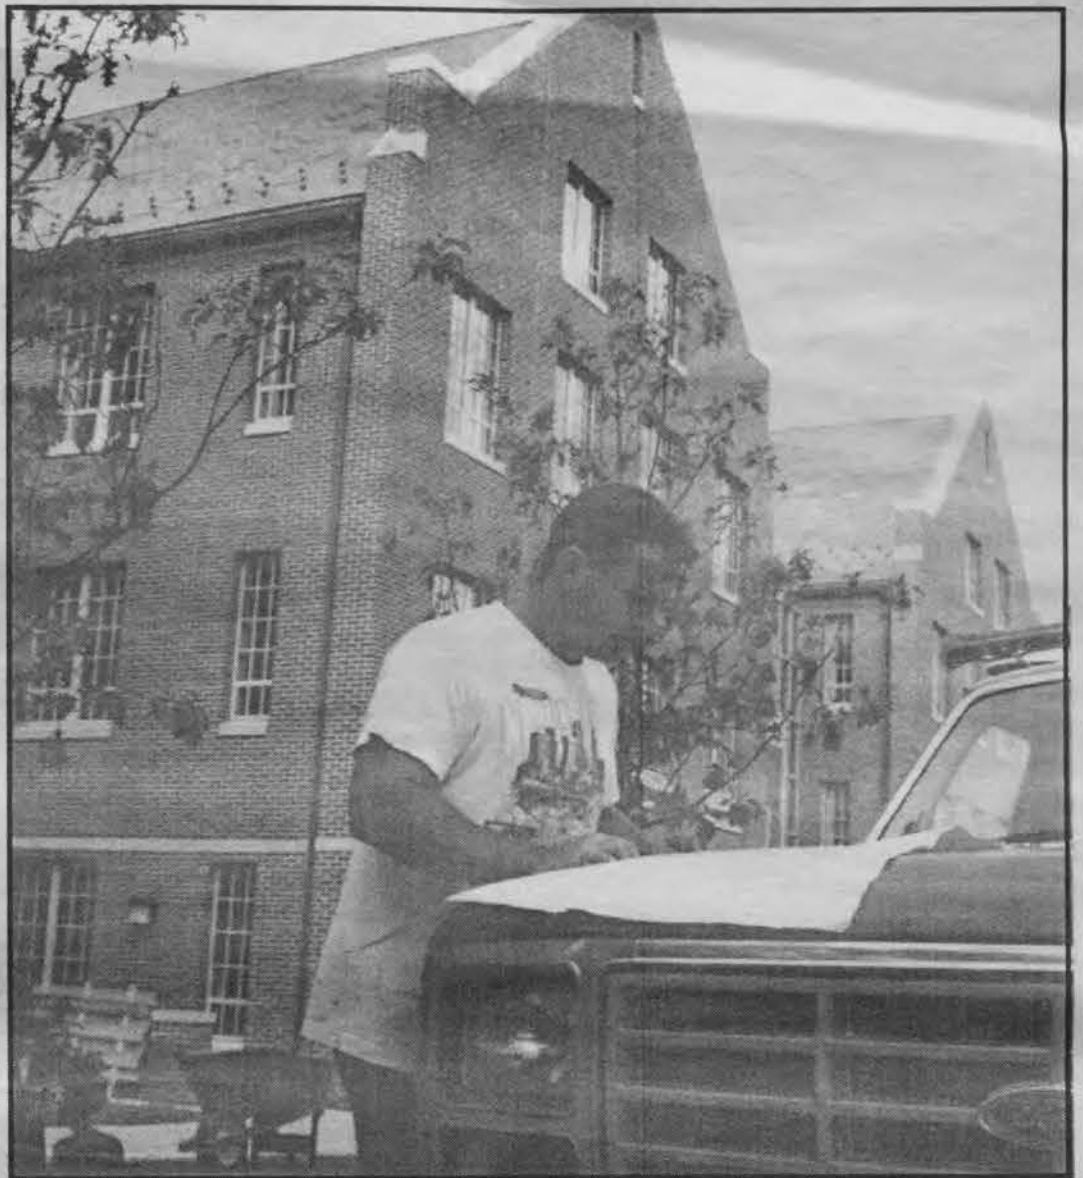

Sincerely,

Doralice Tavorario
