The Carroll News

The great annual migration

The last weekend of August means the great annual migration -- of college students, usually followed by parents, siblings and friends carrying clothing, refrigerators and couches into the dorms, houses or apartments that John Carroll University students will call home for the next nine months.

Say good-bye to the aforementioned parents, siblings and friends and get settled in, making it a new home while catching up with or meeting your roommate. Remember to stock the fridge with caffeinated beverages and late-night munchies for those unexpected parties and all-nighters you just know can't be avoided.

And classes haven't even started yet with last minute problems like dropping and adding classes or finding your classes. Then there's the obligatory parking problems, overlooked tuition bills and winding lines in the bookstore -- all to start the year off right.

When to eat, when to study...

When the sun goes down, Cleveland lights up
Karen Oestreicher

All right, we'll know what your plans are during this weekend. Will you run up to the library and stay up all night until you have your paper written, or will you simply head back to your room and then hustle through the rest of the week, knowing that you'll sleep through final classes? Because next weekend, it's time to unregister off campus for the music festival of the year.

The concert for Cleveland's Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum takes place the last weekend of August at the Great American Ballpark in Cincinnati. Among the long list of performers scheduled to appear are Bruce Springsteen, Aerosmith, Bon Jovi, The Allman Brothers Band and the Pretenders. At press time, ticket sales were still available, but be warned: all tickets for Saturday are sold out. (Call 1-877-772-1177 for more information.)

To register your attendance, call the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum at (215) 496-5000 or visit the website at www.rockandroll.org.

Call 331-5598 for concert schedule and admission.

Carroll looks to new faces to fill talent voids

JCU athletics planning to continue tradition of excellence in the OAC and beyond

Jude Kilty

If you thought the President of the United States and great college athletes had nothing in common, you're wrong. They both have four-year terms.

Sometimes an exceptional few, or the simply lucky, have that time extended. In either position, however, people want to know who will be able to replace them, especially if they were integral to the team. As hard as the task may be, or as long as it may take, someone, somehow will fill it well.

Such voids are evident in John Carroll University Athletics entering the 1995-96 school year. Even though 1994-95 season didn't bring the coveted Ohio Athletic Conference All-Sports Trophy back to University Heights, OH, the Class of 1995 left much more than divots to be replaced along JCU's athletic fairway. The list seems endless.

Fall sports featured athletes like Blue Streak goalie Mike Lyons and sweeper Tom Hahn, who never lost on Wasmer Field's turf in four varsity seasons. They both left JCU with three OAC championship titles under their belts.

Or how about last year's football seniors like quarterback Jimmy Insanza, split end Sean Williams, and tight end Brian Ash who helped compile over 20 offensive records to lead Carroll to its second ever OAC title? Or what about volleyball players Stacey Tizzolino and Linda Miah, the two defensive leaders in kills and aces in JCU's historic 1995 OAC championship year? Who will replace the irreplaceable? No mix, no fit, no replacements. It won't be easy, but someone will do it.

Nobody thought John Carroll's home run feats could be topped, but Steve Atlas topped them. Nor did anyone think there would be better players in NBA history than the superstars like Larry Bird and Erving "Magic" Johnson. Michael Jordan squelched those notions. Perhaps more appropriately, Allen Iverson is NBA "MVP" while his "Horns" football team soared over them.

Carroll may not have any Atlantics, but there are JCU athletes who are capable of getting the job done. They may not name a single OAC all-conference pick or a single member of past heroines and heroes. Oh, they could be stunning freshman teams we've never been exposed to. featherweights, but they will be just as important. The "JCU athletes" names you may know by the end of the year helping push those superstars of the past into exactly that, the past.

Volleyball Pam Jimison, Dawn Ebinger, Women's Soccer, Thea Consler, Oona Blakemore, Shannon Sullivan, Angela Rochowiak, Men's Soccer, Rob Kirtzer and Adam Del Russo, Football, Steve O'Donnell, Chris Anderson, Chad Rankin, Jason Tercek.

Those are just the fall sports. By the end of the year, we'll have plenty of fresh, new sports heroes and heroines who won't be able to imagine losing for the seasons to come.

And we sure we'll do the same thing the year after that and the year after that and the year after that.
