This week's Student Union fight ceasefire was reset with the actual turn of the Union director when President of the Student Union John Cranley recapped his last term and announced future goals

That celebration of life that I called the John Carroll Student Union has given some of the best moments of joy in my life," he said. "While we can not forget that the Student Union is a

Carroll will sponsor hunger week awareness campaigns with world hunger. The JCU radio station will broadcast from the museum to raise awareness.

Students FOCUS on feeding hungry people.

This past summer, the Student Union and the Student Food Pantry sponsored a Food Collection drive.

Students can now buy a meal to give them some money for the things that go above and beyond hunger. "You can buy a car, and you can buy a second home," said Dr. Ferguson.

Jim DeCarlo, who set up the conference, said that the proceeds from the event will go to the Cleveland Browns Foundation and the Student Food Pantry.

"There are no words to describe how grateful we are to the Student Food Pantry for all they do," said DeCarlo.

A special thank you is owed to all those who made it possible to make this event happen, he said.

James Amore, President of the Cleveland State University Student Senate, said that he was proud to be able to support the move to Baltimore because it is a "good thing".

Amore added that he was "excited to see the new stadium being built for the Browns".

Over the past two years, the Cleveland Browns have become an integral part of the Cleveland community.

"It's been a real pleasure to see them develop," said Amore.

Amore added that he was "happy to see the Browns stay in Cleveland".

The Cleveland Browns have been a big part of the Cleveland sports landscape for over 50 years.

The move to Baltimore will be a huge blow to Cleveland, Ohio, and the fans of the Cleveland Browns.

"I'm sad to see them go," said Amore.

Israel mourns loss of leader
Law student charged with Rabbin assassination

Ariev Cottle

THE CARROLL NEWS, NOVEMBER 9, 1995

The Arab-Israeli conflict boiled over on Cape Cod Tuesday, when Stavisky, a New York City councilman who held the seat that housed a former New York state senator, was gunned down in a gunfight with an unidentified man.

H арендew was killed in Israel on Tuesday, when he was gunned down in a gunfight with an unidentified man. The attack was the latest in a series of incidents that have left five people dead and three wounded.

Rabbin, an Israeli-born therapist, was shot dead as he walked down the street in Tel Aviv. According to police, the attacker was a member of the Hizballah militant group.

Rabbin had been active in promoting peace and reconciliation between Israelis and Palestinians. He was also the founder of a Jewish-Palestinian organization that works to promote dialogue and understanding.

Israel's security forces are investigating the attack, which comes amid growing tension between Israel and neighboring countries.

The attack has sparked a wave of condemnation from around the world, with many expressing concern over the rise of political violence in the region.

Israel has recently been facing a series of attacks, including a recent suicide bombing that killed two people in Jerusalem.

The country has been under increased security measures in recent weeks, following a spate of violence that has left 12 people dead and dozens wounded.

President Reuven Rivlin expressed his condolences to the families of the victims and called for an end to violence.

"We condemn this new attack in the strongest possible terms," Rivlin said. "We will not tolerate violent acts against our people or our institutions."

The attack has raised concerns about the security situation in the region, with many calling for a halt to the violence and a return to peaceful negotiations.

The Jerusalem Post reported that Rabbin's death has sparked outrage in the Palestinian territories, with many calling for a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

The attack has also sparked a wave of sympathy for Rabbin's family, with many expressing their condolences on social media.

Israel's security forces have launched a probe into the attack, with police saying they are seeking to identify the attacker and those who may have facilitated the attack.

The attack has also sparked concern about the security situation in the region, with many calling for a return to peaceful negotiations and an end to violence.

Rabbin's death has also sparked a wave of sympathy for his family, with many expressing their condolences on social media.

The Jerusalem Post reported that Rabbin's family has not yet released any statement, but that they are expected to do so soon.

Law charged with Rabin assassination

Amerigo Cutolo is a former Italian Prime Minister and has been charged with Rabin's assassination. The charges were based on evidence suggesting Cutolo had ties to organized crime and had a motive to assassinate Rabin, who was a strong supporter of peace with the Palestinians. The case was a significant legal battle and highlighted the complexities of international crime and political assassinations.

Three area coffee houses rated

Maria Tiusmanos

Coffee houses are the rage right now, but the concept is not new. Columbus first offered a coffee house in 1792, more than 200 years ago. The University area, being a pseudo-urban community, is ripe for the coffee house explosion.

Three coffee houses have been opened recently in the University area. Each is a unique step towards creating a more urban community.

Crab House

Located at 1213 N. High St., the Crab House is the first coffee house to open in the area.

The atmosphere is casual and inviting. There is a large, comfy sofa in the center of the room that is perfect for a relaxed reading session. The walls are decorated with posters and artwork, adding to the cozy feel.

The Crab House serves a limited selection of coffee drinks, including lattes, cappuccinos, and espressos. Prices range from $2.00 to $2.50.

Strada

Strada, located at 1203 N. High St., is the second coffee house to open in the area.

The atmosphere at Strada is much more relaxed than that of the Crab House. The furniture is more comfortable, and there is a comfortable cushioned chair in the center of the room. The walls are decorated with artwork and posters, adding to the inviting feel.

Strada serves a wider selection of coffee drinks than Crab House, including lattes, cappuccinos, and espressos. Prices range from $2.00 to $2.50.

Moo's

Moo's, located at 1201 N. High St., is the third coffee house to open in the area.

The atmosphere at Moo's is cozy and inviting. The furniture is comfortable, and the walls are decorated with artwork and posters. The coffee house is open late at night, making it a great place to hang out after a long day.

Moo's serves a wide selection of coffee drinks, including lattes, cappuccinos, and espressos. Prices range from $2.00 to $2.50.

Overall, each coffee house has its own unique atmosphere and offers a different selection of coffee drinks. However, all three are great options for a relaxing and invigorating coffee experience.

CD Reviews: Corrs, Knapsack

Andrew Schlesinger

The Corrs

"Forgiven, Not Forgotten" (Island Records)

With a steadily expanding musical and lyrical palette, The Corrs show that they can now bring their unique style to a wider audience. The album is a testament to their talent and musicianship.

"Forgiven, Not Forgotten" is a showcase for the band's strengths, includingbrothers Ronan and Shane's harmonies and the sultry vocals of Maria McGuire. The album features a mix of rock, pop, and folk elements, with a focus on acoustic instruments.

The Corrs

"Forgiven, Not Forgotten" is highly recommended for fans of the band and for anyone looking for a fresh and interesting album.

Three coffee houses are rated in the following review. Each coffee house is rated on various factors including price, atmosphere, and beverage selection.

Coffee Bean, located at 1431 East Ninth Street, is rated highly. The coffee shop offers a variety of drinks and snacks, and has a comfortable atmosphere. The prices are reasonable, with a wide range of options available.

The Second Cup, located at 1325 Euclid Avenue, is rated moderately. The coffee shop offers a good selection of drinks, but the atmosphere is not as cozy as some of the other coffee houses.

Cosmopolitan Coffee, located at 1200 East Ninth Street, is rated lowly. The coffee shop offers a limited selection of drinks and snacks, and has a more casual atmosphere. The prices are relatively high.

These coffee houses are located in the heart of Cleveland and offer a variety of options for coffee and other beverages. They are great places to relax and catch up with friends.

If you look hard enough anytime during the fall season you can find volleyball players on the Balboa Peninsula. Although they may just be playing for fun, many of the girls who play in the league have played competitive volleyball for years.

A lot of them are actually just very good at the sport. We are not just talking about the college players, but even the high school players are just as good. It is amazing how many people can play the game at a very high level. We are not just talking about the college players, but even the high school players are just as good. Avoid the vacuum: see the big picture

There have, and always will be, problems and things to complain about, criticize, and change here at John Carroll; yet, we must realize that JCU is not always what the real world is like. This needs to be a concern that all of us share.

JCU tends to be a vacuum, one that many get sucked into. This is probably the case on many campuses because of the lack of information people have about the big picture. We need to realize that the world is like. This needs to be a concern that all of us all share.

A good place to start is with information sources. Hopefully, there are those of us who will prove to be exemptions to the rule, but for most of us, when was the last time you read a newspaper other than The Carroll News? And (not because you had to for a class) When was the last time you watched the local or national news? There’s a slight chance that a few of you realize that this is a right we all have and should not take for granted. Everyone, city, state, and national election results will affect our lives in the future once we graduate and begin our careers, families, etc.

But the Browns lost on Sunday, beating the Indianapolis Colts 38-35. This was the first time in 18 years that the Browns have not lost in their season opener. In fact, Modell thinks he has been helped by the bad luck. "I think the Browns are just getting used to being successful," Modell says. "And I think we’re going to have a good season this year."

Good-bye is not always what the real world is like. This needs to be a concern that all of us share.

HITS & misses

m i s s e s: Art Modell, Cleveland Browns. Good-bye Art Modell, Cleveland Browns. Who knew that the Browns would be one of the teams that would be hit the hardest by the economic recession? The Browns, once a proud franchise, are now on the brink of losing their status as a team. The Browns have not won a playoff game since 1989 and have struggled to draw fans to the stadium. It is a sad day for Cleveland sports fans.

HIT: Snow. Skiers have hope for a nice, snowy winter. But, it is a hit to the city of Cleveland, Ohio. Modell is the majority owner of the team. They lost the average, we need to look at the sports pages, you'll find that the Browns are back in the playoffs for the third consecutive year. It was great to see the nation of football fans come together on one issue because it is going to make a difference in the future.

Comments:

- Browns headed east, but going nowhere.
- Cleveland Browns, Cleveland Indians. Getting all of the Browns in the ring at once is something that could happen in the near future. There is a lot of places that Cleveland can send a good team. But look at the past, the Browns were the first professional sports team in the city. The Brownies were the undisputed champs of the city. The Brownies beat the Indians in the 1950 World Series, 1954 World Series, and the 1968 World Series. That is one team that has dominated a city. That is one team that has dominated a city.

Professor calls attention to racism in Wahoo display

As many other spectators of the American pastime, this is hoped the very last time the Cleveland baseball team called the Indians, even though their name is a part.

Joseph A. Modell is the majority owner of the team. He has had the team for 20 years, and during that time, the team has had its share of ups and downs. The team has been in the playoffs twice in the last five years, but has not won a championship. Modell is a big part of the team, and his name is in the team's history.

Avoid the vacuum: see the big picture

There have been, and always will be, problems and things to complain about, criticize, and change here at John Carroll; yet, we must realize that JCU is not what the real world is. This needs to be a concern of all of us.

JCU tends to be a vacuum, one that many get stuck into. This is probably the case on many college campuses, but that is not an excuse to remain stuck in it. On average, we need to become more aware of the "real world."

A good place to start is with information sources. Hopefully, there are those at the University that will prove to be exceptions to the rule, but for most of us, when we graduate and begin our careers, families, etc., the majority of us probably did not become more aware of the community than once we graduate and begin our careers, families, etc.

It is important to realize that today's current situation is not that different from the past. For example, when the Browns lost to the Colts, all of us were concerned, worried, angry, and sometimes we were just plain mad. But the Browns lost.

Today the Browns lose because they are losing Cleveland. They lose because Art Modell is the majority owner of the team. They lose because the fans are not what they used to be before. Overpowering heat in the weight room. Modell decided to move the team to Baltimore. He is alleged to have left this town because he had gone broke. But Art Modell is concerned, and the fans here are not.

And so it goes, but this is not the case with all teams. When the Giants beat the Mets, all of us were concerned, worried, angry, and sometimes we were just plain mad. But the Giants won.

Today the Giants win because they are winning New York. They win because Joe Torre is the manager. They win because the fans are not what they used to be before. But Joe Torre is concerned, and the fans here are.

It is time to put things into perspective. Take a look at the big picture. It is not on-campus issues such as Marriott or the JCU's Carillon. As a student at JCU, you are one of the 350,000 students who are affected by the NCAA's second largest university. Part of the reason that NCAA and SEC campuses are better is due to the fact that we have a larger student body.

Being a student at JCU means you need to understand that there are many issues that affect us. It is not only on-campus issues that need to be addressed. It is important to see the big picture.

HIT: Entertainment in the Atrium last Friday during lunch. m i a s: The continuous lack of suit shakers in the dining hall. HIT: The volleyball team receiving a berth to the NCAA playoffs for the third consecutive year. HIT: The出售 form qualifying for nationals.

Commentary: Browns headed east, but going nowhere

Goodbye Cleveland Browns. Goodbye Art Modell. Goodbye Joe Torre. Getting rid of the towel slingers for the second time, a bit more satisfying than the first. The Browns were a disappointment, and it is certainly the right move to make.

We need to realize that there are many issues that need to be addressed. It is not only on-campus issues that need to be addressed. It is important to see the big picture.
