The Carroll News

Volume 10 Number 31 · November 30, 1995

IN & B

NATO calls for peace in Bosnia despite Serbian resistance

Blue Steaks support "Three Point Attack" against cancer

Students FOCUS on needy

Amy Knaur
Student News

Megan Baldino, co-chair of the project. "They had a lot of food that they would bring so much food. It was a really great experience," said Dorothy Lemmey, assistant professor of nursing at Lake Erie College.

Women's conference delegates speak at JCU

Cherie Skoczen
American News Editor

The fourth International Women's Conference was not as much of a media event as had been expected. For the most part, the conference stayed out of the headlines, and the delegates stayed out of the spotlight.

Prayer service to be held

Talia prayer offered in Chapel

Charlie Skoczen

The fourth International Women's Conference was not as much of a media event as had been expected. For the most part, the conference stayed out of the headlines, and the delegates stayed out of the spotlight.

Showing appreciation

Approximately 120 students cooked and organized a dinner for Marriott workers on Nov. 18 to show their appreciation. The dinner was sponsored by the Student Union.
Schott Hall designer wins award
Ron Payto

Schott Hall won an award in the Collegiate-Gothic category of the 1996 JCU Design Awards. The design, which was honored for its innovative use of lighting, flexibility, and efficiency, was designed by Carolyn Sprague.

Payto, the architect behind the design, said, "It was important to create an environment that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing. The design was inspired by the surrounding architecture and the need for a modern, yet traditional space for the university community."
Schott Hall designer wins award

Carolyn Sprague

Reali, JCU

and the students, said Reali.

"It was this matching of ‘collegiate-gothic’ architecture, use of lighting, and flexibility which encouraged the winning of the AIA Ohio Design Award," said Payto.

Schott Hall was designed by a large driving hall and former hall in a group of surrounding buildings that are residential in character and style. The 19,000 square feet of Schott Hall was built to the size of adjoining buildings; it had to be sympathetic to the surrounding architecture. Payto added optimistically to the surrounding buildings was achieved by using ‘collegiate-gothic’ design such as potted gables, existing window proportions, brick facings, and copper materials.

It was this matching of ‘collegiate-gothic’ architecture, use of lighting, and flexibility which encouraged the winning of the AIA Ohio Design Award, said Payto.

When: 9am to 7pm

What: All

Where: In the Atrium

Don’t Miss Out!
Clinton takes responsibility for possible casualties in Bosnia

NATO peace plan calls to unite Bosnian front despite threats of resistance

Shane Subler

The budget shortfall between what Congress has approved and what the Pentagon needs to fund its proposed plans is growing. Also at stake is the Pentagon's ability to fund the war in the Balkans. The United States and NATO are in a race to find funds as quickly as possible. Some of the relief agencies have expressed concern that this will cause worse bloodshed with potential effects on the United States. The situation is rather dicey.

Mr. President, Mr. Secretary of State, and Mr. Secretary of Defense, I would like to emphasize some of the areas of concern for the United States. First, let's focus on the Bosnian situation. The United States has a significant number of troops in Bosnia, and we need to monitor the situation closely. Second, let's look at the situation in the Middle East. The United States needs to take a more active role in the peace process.

According to the United States, the Bosnian situation is rather dicey. The situation in the Middle East is even more complex. The United States needs to take a more active role in the peace process.

The American military has a significant number of troops in Bosnia, and we need to monitor the situation closely. The American military needs to take a more active role in the peace process.
Clintons\'s role in the peace process has been controversial. Some have praised his efforts, arguing that he has used his influence to push for a peaceful resolution of the conflict. Others have criticized him for not doing enough to prevent the war or for not being tougher on Serbian leaders. The American public has generally supported Clinton\'s efforts, but many have also expressed frustration with the lack of progress.

The Bosnian government has also been criticized for its role in the peace process. Some have accused it of not doing enough to protect civilians or to ensure a fair peace settlement. Others have suggested that the government has been too focused on its own interests or has been insufficiently active in negotiating with the Serbs.

The United States has been a key player in the peace process, providing military and economic assistance to both sides. However, some have questioned whether this assistance has been effective or whether it has contributed to the conflict rather than helping to resolve it.

Overall, the peace process in Bosnia has been slow and difficult, with many challenges remaining. However, there are some signs of progress, and it is hoped that a lasting peace can be achieved in the future.
Giving Tree project reaches out to children and elderly

Sherry Lautenschlager
Assistant Features Director

The Giving Tree project, sponsored by John Carroll University and local businesses, has been a tradition for 17 years. The project, which is designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable, has proven to be successful in many communities. The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.

The Giving Tree project was started by the late Louis Lautenschlager, who was a volunteer for 17 years. The project was designed to bring holiday cheer to children and elderly whose circumstances may make holidays less enjoyable.

The project began in 1978 as a way for students to reach out to those in need during the holidays.

A child from Cleveland opens his gift from a volunteer of the JC community.

And although we are adults now, we still remember the joy and love that came with the act of giving.
FEATURES

The Carroll News, November 30, 1995

Giving Tree project reaches out to children and elderly

Sherry Launest

As the Christmas season approaches, the special Christmas Giving Tree Project is brought to light.

For the past seven years, Candy Trotter has been the coordinator of the Giving Tree Project. The project, which was started by Bob and Myra Carlson, started as a way to bring happiness to the elderly and children in the area. Their older son, Tom, was murdered by a fan in front of the family home.

The Giving Tree project is being held at the Cleveland University Convocation Center from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. The project is open to the public and is a way for people to help those in need.

The Giving Tree project is a way for people to help those in need. For more information, call 331-4433.

"Three-Point Attack" against cancer

Colleen Byun

The Cleveland Indians have made a major commitment to cancer research with the "Three-Point Attack" program. The program has raised over $1 million for cancer research since its inception in 1992. The Indians have also provided funding for the construction of a new research facility at the Cleveland Clinic.

The program is designed to bring awareness to the need for cancer research and to provide financial support for cancer research efforts. The program is open to the public and is a way for people to help those in need.

For more information, call 331-4433.

Cleveland celebrates Belestanema

"Becoming a symbol of generation from which they evolved"

Bachellie Meyers

Belestanema is the first of its kind in the Cleveland area to offer a full range of cancer prevention and treatment services. The clinic is open to the public and is a way for people to help those in need.

For more information, call 331-4433.

ENTERTAINMENT

The Carroll News, November 30, 1995

Brosnan strikes gold as Bond

Andrea Tracy

The latest James Bond film, "GoldenEye," starring Pierce Brosnan, has been released in theaters. The film is the first in a new series of Bond films and is a major departure from the previous films.

The film follows Bond as he travels to Cuba, Japan, and Russia, where he must save the world from a deadly virus. The film is a major departure from the previous films and is a major success at the box office.

For more information, call 331-4433.

Music

Bachellie Meyers

The Cleveland Cavaliers are one of the most successful teams in the NBA. The team has won three NBA championships and has made it to the playoffs multiple times.

The team is led by LeBron James, who is one of the most talented players in the league. The team is also led by John Mayberry, who is a versatile player and a great leader.

For more information, call 331-4433.

Theater

The Cleveland Playhouse is one of the most successful theaters in the country. The theater has produced a number of hit plays and musicals and has received numerous awards.

The theater is led byArlene Phillips, who is the artistic director. The theater is also led by Todd D. Miller, who is the executive director.

For more information, call 331-4433.
O'Reilly's

15 cent wings Wednesdays and Sunday 20% discount on all food to all Carroll Students, Faculty and Staff.

Streaks of the Week

Erin Blethe, Freemont

The John Carroll University volleyball team overcame a deficit of seven points to secure a three-set sweep of the front-running vacations in the OAC last weekend.

The Blue Streaks opened the regular season at the Galligan Gymnasium with a dominating 3-0 sweep of the Ichabods of Williams College.

Despite a slow start, the Blue Streaks rallied behind senior outside hitter, Madison Frey, to win the first set 25-16. The Ichabods fought back in the second set, pulling ahead 24-22. However, the Blue Streaks refused to go down without a fight, as they scored 13 of the final 17 points to secure a 25-23 victory in the second set.

In the third set, the Blue Streaks cruised to a 25-10 win, extending their winning streak to six matches.

Jeff Sepekla

Senior center was named the Carnegie-Mellon Invitational Most Valuable Player. Sepekla set 30 points, grabbed 16 rebounds, made four blocks and had three assists in the Blue Streaks' 80-74 victory over Carnegie-Mellon University.

R-divisions and B-divisions are stepping up to B-divisions.

"In the first set, I felt like we were a little flat," said Sepekla. "But in the second and third sets, we really picked up the pace and played our best."

The Blue Streaks are now 7-0 on the season and remain atop the OAC standings.

ROLLING ROCK DRAFT SPECIALS!
11 a.m. - 2 a.m. - lunch and dinner specials kitchen closes at 11 a.m.
free parking at the building.
321-9356
Lois in Cedars
1982 Cedar

Sweaters, Swimsuits, and Consecutive OAC titles

Jolie Killy

Elise Sangiuliano, a senior defensive specialist, was named the OAC Player of the Week for her performance in the Blue Streaks' sweep of Carnegie-Mellon University.

"I'm really happy with how I'm playing so far," said Sangiuliano. "I'm just trying to do my best and contribute to the team."

The Blue Streaks are now 3-0 on the season and remain atop the OAC standings.

Swimming season's best

"We're really excited to have this opportunity to compete against some of the top teams in the country," said Coach Carol Dugan.

The Blue Streaks are now 3-0 on the season and remain atop the OAC standings.

Our Holiday Cash Is Better than Credit Cards!

Borrow Up To:
$5,000 for 25 Months at 12.00% APR*
$10,000 for 48 Months at 13.75% APR*

Membership is open to JCU Faculty, Staff, All Students, and Alumni.

Open your account online today:
Wednesday, December 6
11:00AM - 1:00PM
The President's Breakfast Room
or call the Credit Union at 413-624-5266, Monday - Saturday.
California Lutheran stood in the way of a happy ending. Staff season at the Calvin Tournament, first game, lose the next two. They rebounded the next day to Blue this will probably be another up as was the case all the season, the "The first three games were open. Despite the loss, the "Streaks past Muskingum opened the regular season, the "Trenton added 13. The freshman forward was campaigned for a team­line Biehle pulled for a team­senior center was named "Jimison all added their names to the "We're more physical and make Dugan said. "We're more physical and make "I was excited just to get the "I will probably be favored." the "Streaks, the "Alex Franklin by the pint and 1/2 pint of "But we don't usually put much thought into our food choices. We just want to eat healthy and feel good after a game."
Editorial

Sometimes we all need to be reminded

With Thanksgiving behind us, two things are on everyone's mind: final exams and the holidays. As students at John Carroll University, a Jesuit institution, we like to think that we do not need to be reminded of the season, but some of us may need a little reminder of what it's all about. The need after Thanksgiving is the busiest shopping day of the year, and it has been made even busier by the increased number of people that flock to the malls “frequently up until Christmas." Tradition is good when it comes to certain things and even this one can be sort of family bonding. Some people, however, tend to get a little too caught up in this aspect of the holiday spirit.

Both Hanukkah and especially Christmas are very commercialized holidays in our society. Stores are filled with gifts, decorations and music to help us “celebrate" these holidays. All of this is very nice, and while it can be stressful at times, it is also fun for many people. This, however, is not the reason for the season. And, no matter what religion or other practices, everyone can find a common meaning behind the holidays; the spirit of giving.

Regardless of religion or even what holiday is being celebrated, we are all capable of recognizing that this is a time to give. An ideal of a Jesuit education is to help you learn how to give to others. At JCU, especially, there are plenty of ways in which to participate in giving spirit. While we discuss these opportunities, how many of us actually spend some time thinking about what we can do to help others?

But as I thought more about having my wisdom teeth pulled, I realized that rather than focusing on the pain and the bruising, I spent more time on putting a positive spin on this experience. I thought about how I could help others by getting my wisdom teeth pulled, 1 pulled an office, and I even played out the following scenario:

"I told her we went through the same thing this weekend. I'm not sure what else to expect when my wisdom teeth are pulled, but I imagine if I told her about it, she'd be just like me when I first found out. I was scared, I was nervous, I was having a panic attack. But as I thought more about having my wisdom teeth pulled, I realized that rather than focusing on the pain and the bruising, I spent more time on putting a positive spin on this experience."
Editorial

Sometimes we all need to be reminded

With Thanksgiving now behind us, two things are on everyone’s mind: final exams and the holidays. As students at John Carroll, University, a Jesuit institution, we like to think that we do not need to be reminded of the “reason for the season,” or the meaning of the holidays. But, being the busy students that we are, sometimes we need a little reminder of what all this is about just what we need.

The day after Thanksgiving is the busiest shopping day of the year, and it has become customary for many people to have the “malls” frequented until Christmas. Tradition is good when it comes to certain things, and even this one can be a sort of family bonding. Some people, however, tend to get a little too caught up in this aspect of the holiday spirit. Beth Mahanek and especially Christmas are very commercial holidays in our society. Stores are filled with gifts, decorations and music to help us “celebrate” these holidays. All of this is nice, and while it can be a relaxed time, it is also fun for many people. This, however, is not the reason for the season. And, no matter what religion one practices, everyone can find a common meaning behind the holidays: the spirit of giving.

Regardless of religion or even what holiday is being celebrated, we are all capable of recognizing that this is a time to give. An ideal of a Jesuit education is to learn how to give of yourself. At JCU, especially, there are plenty of ways in which we can engage in acts of kindness, whether it is buying a gift for the Giving Tree or just being a good friend. And, sometimes, even this one can be a sort of family bonding. Some people, however, tend to get a little too caught up in this aspect of the holiday spirit.

Look around the opportunities made available to you here. I bet you’ll get involved, too. This month, we have a special opportunity to take advantage of: the Holiday Giving Tree. The tree, sponsored by the Student Union, will be in the Arthur with the names of children and senior citizens on it. When we take a name, we all need to do is buy a small gift, bring it to your RA, and bring the whole package down under the tree by Dec. 7. It's not that big of an effort, but it gives us all the chance to do something special for someone who really needs it.

Jennifer Burke
Chair of 1995

HITS & misses

miss: Two of the four copiers in the library are broken. mis: The long lines and busy phone lines to buy Indians tickets. mis: All of the holiday decorations popping up all over campus. mis: Beginning to look like Christmas, but not having a snowfall. mis: A row of Christmas trees along the sidewalk. The music practice rooms are out of tune. mis: The newscast for Christmas Career. mis: Midnite Mass is now at 11 p.m. mis: The Student Telephone Directories are finally here! mis: Three members of the football team making the first team All-Academic in the OAC. mis: Operation Focus. And, all those who helped to make it a success. mis: Just two weeks. Hang in there.

Commentary

Don’t make everything as rough as pulling teeth.

Before lunch on Friday, I received an unexpected phone call. No one had ever called me before, so I was a little taken aback. The caller introduced himself and said that he was the director of the University’s Office of Student Affairs. He said that he had heard about the problems I was having and had come to see if he could help. I explained to him that I was having problems with the university’s policies and procedures, and that I had been trying to resolve them for several weeks. But, he said that he didn’t really care about my situation, and that I had to take care of it myself. He told me that he was not involved in any way, and that he just wanted to let me know that there was nothing he could do to help. I thanked him for his time, and ended the call.

I am a student at John Carroll University, and I have been experiencing difficulties with the university’s policies and procedures. I have been trying to resolve these issues for several weeks, but I have not been able to find a solution. I feel that I have been treated unfairly, and that the university’s policies and procedures are not fair to students.

I would like to see some changes made to the university’s policies and procedures. I believe that the university should be more understanding of students’ needs, and that it should be more willing to work with students to resolve their issues. I would also like to see more transparency in the university’s decision-making processes.

I would like to hear from other students who have experienced similar difficulties with the university’s policies and procedures. It would be helpful to know if there are any other students who have had similar experiences, and if they were able to resolve their issues.

I would also like to hear from the university’s administration. I believe that it is important for the university to consider the needs of its students, and that it should be more willing to work with students to resolve their issues. I would like to hear from the administration about their thoughts on the issues that I have raised, and about any actions that they are taking to address these issues.

I would like to see the university make some changes to its policies and procedures. I believe that the university should be more understanding of students’ needs, and that it should be more willing to work with students to resolve their issues. I would also like to see more transparency in the university’s decision-making processes.

I would like to hear from other students who have experienced similar difficulties with the university’s policies and procedures. It would be helpful to know if there are any other students who have had similar experiences, and if they were able to resolve their issues.

I would also like to hear from the university’s administration. I believe that it is important for the university to consider the needs of its students, and that it should be more willing to work with students to resolve their issues. I would like to hear from the administration about their thoughts on the issues that I have raised, and about any actions that they are taking to address these issues.
FOR RENT: Siesta Key, on the 4th floor, 2 bath condo/located on VIEW.

Needed: Located 6 hard working students to provide if necessary. For more information please call Matt Serrano at 1-800-543-3792.

Wanted: TAS. International is looking for highly motivated, outgoing individuals, Stu - Visitors. DM - 1-800-660-7167.

Babysitter Wanted. 5, 6, and 7 year olds in our Shaker Hts. family. Looking for students who are looking for highly motivated, outgoing individuals. DM 1-800-660-7167.

Spring Break - Nassau/Paradise Island. Call 397-5424 for details.

Sales Job: Sales associates wanted and Sales manager wanted to promote SPRING BREAK from Brochwood Place-20% commission. Call 464-1717 or 656-2000.

Babysitter Wanted. 5, 6, and 7 year olds in our Shaker Hts. family. Looking for students who are looking for highly motivated, outgoing individuals. DM 1-800-660-7167.

Music Industry Internship: National music Marketing/Management Company based in LA seeks lntern to assist in Denver with summer of 1996. Gain business experience to belong with the most prominent companies in the music business. DM 1-800-327-6013 for any information or check us out on the internet at this site http://www.icpt.com.

Goodluck! Let's go Blue Streak - swimmers don't drown this weekend.