JCU lands on WWW
Lisa Vives

John Carroll University Information Services recently created a preliminary home page on the World Wide Web that has linked John Carroll to the information superhighway.

The creation of the home page on the World Wide Web is a result of the "American Values Scholarship," a grant awarded to the college for creating a home page. The home page was created by two students: Jamie Morris and Bishoy Mikhail. The four-year grant awarded to John Carroll University has resulted in the creation of a home page on the World Wide Web. The home page is designed to provide information about John Carroll University, its students, faculty, and staff.

Ten students nominated for SU offices
Charlie Slesar

Ten students accepted nomination papers to run for the executive offices of the Student Union: Tuesday, February 12. Students interested in running for the executive offices should submit their nomination papers to the office of executive treasurer, Lisa Gladstone, in the Student Union.

The Student Union executive officers are responsible for the operation of the Student Union. The Student Union treasurer is responsible for the financial operations of the Student Union. The Student Union president is responsible for the overall operations of the Student Union. The Student Union vice-president is responsible for the organization of the Student Union. The Student Union secretary is responsible for the record-keeping operations of the Student Union.
Can the student body be trusted? voter can back this proposal.

Commentary

Nothing personal, but before we all get up in the name of our body needs to decide if they really need a SABA. I know what you’re thinking: “Aren’t they for doing something good for people?”

It’s true, but there are some things that need to be done wisely and for good reasons.

The decision must not be a fodder for criticism with maturity and class.

The problem is, Ochs said, putting money to a past virulence of a strategy is against the norm.

“Nothing personal, but before we all get up in the name of the community,” the students were asked to answer before I (a concerned campus resident) vote.

According to Ochs, the SABA is looking at the under-funded area.

Clintond edges Dole in total funding, Buchanan and Lugar in debt

Janet Whiting

The Washington Post

GOP supporters and campaign staffs have reported that Congressman Ron Links' campaign contributed more in total than either Senator Bob Dole's or Bob Dole's campaigns, and substantially more than both Dole's, with $2.6 million in debt compared to Dole's $2.5 million debt.

Forbes: platform beyond flat tax

Some critics have been surprised by the flat-tax option proposed by Forbes, the two-time presidential candidate, but they have been interested in the results. Forbes' platform, which was first put forward in 1990, has been the subject of much debate and discussion. Forbes has repeatedly expressed interest in a flat tax, and has often talked about the benefits it would bring to the economy. Forbes has also argued that a flat tax would simplify the tax code and make it easier for people to understand. Some critics have pointed out that a flat tax would disproportionately benefit the wealthy, and that the current system is more progressive. Forbes has responded to these criticisms by arguing that a flat tax would still be more fair than the current system, and that it would provide much-needed relief to the middle class.

Ethnic prejudice protested, results in riot

A riot broke out in a suburb of New York City, when a group of young people, mainly of African-American descent, confronted a group of white police officers. The confrontation turned violent, with stones and bottles being thrown, and police officers using batons and tear gas to try to disperse the crowd. The riot was sparked by a number of factors, including the presence of large numbers of police officers in the area, the recent acquittal of a police officer who had been accused of brutality, and the ongoing protests against police brutality. The riot lasted for several hours, and resulted in multiple arrests and injuries. The riot was a clear example of the continued problem of ethnic prejudice and police brutality in the United States, and it highlighted the need for greater understanding and cooperation between different communities.

Chilling out in the Circle
Museum tours provide cure for cabin fever

Karen Rprints
The Carroll News, February 8, 1996

February may be the coldest, but the weather does not mean that the Cleveland Museum of Art is closed. A special Winter/Spring program, "The Importance of Being Earnest," is being held this month and offers a chance for museum fans to find out more about the Cleveland Museum of Art's permanent collection.

The program, which begins on February 12, will feature a guided tour of the museum's collection and will include a lecture on the history of the museum and its role in the cultural community.

The museum's permanent collection includes works by some of the most famous artists of all time, including Rembrandt, Van Gogh, and Monet. The collection also includes a number of rare and valuable pieces, such as a diamond necklace once owned by Catherine the Great.

For more information, call the museum at 216-731-4600.

There are hundreds of activities on campus, from volunteer opportunities to sports teams and clubs. While there are many options available, many students find that the most rewarding experience is volunteering. Volunteering not only provides a sense of fulfillment, but it also allows students to make a real difference in their community. There are many volunteer opportunities available on campus, ranging from tutoring and mentoring to food banks and animal shelters. Many students find that volunteering is a great way to meet new people and gain valuable experience.

Village Health Care was one such volunteer opportunity. Village Health Care is a non-profit organization that provides medical care to low-income patients. Students who volunteered with Village Health Care were able to gain valuable experience in the medical field while also helping those in need. Many students who volunteered with Village Health Care found that it was a rewarding experience that helped them gain a better understanding of the medical field and its importance.

Ethan Snyder, a junior biology major, volunteered with Village Health Care for two semesters. He found that it was a great way to gain hands-on experience in the medical field. "I was able to learn about the medical field in a way that I never would have been able to learn in a classroom," said Snyder. "I was able to work directly with patients and see how the medical field works in real life." Snyder found that volunteering with Village Health Care was a great way to gain experience and understand the importance of the medical field.

Volunteering is not only a great way to gain experience, but it also provides a sense of fulfillment. Many students find that volunteering is a great way to give back to their community and make a positive impact. "I was able to make a difference in the lives of others," said Snyder. "It was a great experience that I will never forget." Snyder found that volunteering with Village Health Care was a great way to give back to his community and make a positive impact.

Village Health Care was one of many volunteer opportunities available on campus. There are many other ways to get involved and make a difference on campus. Whether it is volunteering with a non-profit organization or participating in a local club, there are many ways to gain experience and make a positive impact.

While volunteering is a great way to gain experience and make a positive impact, it is important to remember to take care of yourself. Volunteering can be a demanding experience, and it is important to make sure that you are taking care of yourself while you are volunteering. "I made sure to take care of myself while I was volunteering," said Snyder. "I made sure to take breaks and make sure that I was getting enough rest." Snyder found that taking care of himself was important while he was volunteering.

Volunteering is a great way to give back to your community and make a positive impact. It is also a great way to gain experience and understand the importance of the medical field. Whether you are a biology major or simply interested in volunteering, there are many ways to get involved and make a difference on campus.

Swimming teams await OAC finals

Brian Murphy

The final weekend of February marks the final weekend of regular-season competition for both John Carroll University men's and women's swimming and diving teams. Both squads swept their opponents, defeating Baldwin-Wallace on Thursday night and taking first place in Saturday's showpiece at the College of Wooster. The men's 117-79 and swamping of the Blues team was highlighted by the winning of two pool records by John Carroll swimmers. Seventy-seven-year-old Chris Wuritch set an OAC record of 50.04 and sophomore Jarrod Neiman set a new school record of 1:04.54.

John Carroll University swimming, basketball, and football coach Carl Dugas has said that whatever he wins, he'll lose, and vice versa. Winning is the only thing that counts. And on Saturday night, with 11 seconds remaining in the meet, John Carroll upset Shula Sports Center, 62-60. It was the first win since the 1992-93 season.

The game was a battle of two-time defending national champions Caroll and Shula. The Blue Streaks had a 5-4 lead into the final period, but the Blue Devils took a 50-49 lead with 3:30 remaining. The Blue Streaks responded with a 7-0 run, including a 3-pointer by Caroll, to take the lead back.

With 15 seconds on the clock, Carroll's forward Matt O'Shea won the rebound, putting the ball on the floor for the Blue Streaks to score. Caroll scored on a 3-pointer, and the Blue Streaks led 61-59. The Blue Devils had a turnover on the ensuing possession, giving the ball back to the Blue Streaks. John Carroll's Mark Johnson hit a free throw, and the Blue Streaks led 62-59.

The Blue Devils were able to get the ball back to O'Shea, but he was called for a foul. From the free-throw line, Caroll made both free throws, taking a 64-59 lead. The Blue Devils were down by five with only 2.5 seconds left on the clock.

The Blue Devils were unable to find an open shot, and the Blue Devils were defeated, 62-60.

This was the first win since the 1992-93 season, and the Blue Streaks are now 8-1 in OAC competition.

Carroll's defense was the key to the victory, holding Shula to 33 points on a 13-33 shooting percentage. The Blue Streaks scored 49 points on a 18-39 shooting percentage.

With the win, the Blue Streaks moved to 5-11 in the OAC, while Shula dropped to 7-9.

The Blue Streaks' next game is at home against Baldwin-Wallace on Saturday, February 23.

Politics the fashion factor

Just as the weather was becoming the talk of the town, the student government is now the talk of the town. As the weather has become more pleasant, the student government has become more active. The student government has been working hard to ensure that the students have everything they need to make the best of the weather.

The student government has been working on various projects to improve the campus. They have been working on the construction of a new playground, which is expected to be completed by the end of the summer. The student government has also been working on the installation of new lighting in the campus parking lot, which will improve safety and security.

In addition, the student government has been working on the improvement of the student facilities. They have been working to ensure that the facilities are up to standard and that they are being used to their fullest potential.

The John Carroll University student body under the direction of the president proposes a small fee in order to allocate funds to JCU organizations.

Recently, students have been complaining that the administration seems to have less and less concern for student problems. This feeling is perhaps not well founded, but it is an expression of a general dissatisfaction with the way the university is run.

In truth, the administration is working hard to improve the quality of life for students. The recent increase in the number of student workers, for example, is a step in the right direction.

On the other hand, there are many other issues that need to be addressed. For instance, the lack of transparency in the budgeting process continues to be a source of frustration for many students.

In conclusion, while there are certainly areas for improvement, the administration is working to address the concerns of the student body. It is important for students to remain engaged and involved in the decision-making process, as their voices are critical to the future of our university.
