SU primaries yield large voter turnout

Cherie Skoczen

This week's Student Union primaries yielded a record turnout and a record number of candidates running for union offices.

"It really says something great about the Union and the outlook students have for it," said Dan Provenzano, the student elections committee chairman.

Provenzano said the student elections committee had a turnout of 1,200 students, which is a record for the university. He said he was impressed with the level of participation and the diversity of candidates running for office.

"I think it's a great sign for the future of the student union," Provenzano said. "It shows that students are interested in the organization and want to be involved in making decisions that affect their lives on campus."

Provenzano said the student union is working to improve its communication with students and to make sure that all students have an opportunity to participate in the decision-making process.

"We want to make sure that students know what the student union is all about and what it can do for them," Provenzano said."

Resident Assistant selection process will be conducted on the following Tuesday, April 2nd at 9:00AM in the Jardine Room.

RA applications will be due no later than April 1st. A mandatory orientation meeting will take place on the last day of classes.

General elections will be this fall. The RA process takes a lot of time and effort, so it's important for everyone involved to take the time to make sure that their applications are submitted on time.

RA applications will be available in the RA office and on the Student Union website. If you have any questions, please contact the RA coordinator.

RA applications are due on the last day of classes.

The RA selection process is a competitive one, and only the best candidates will be selected. So if you're interested in becoming an RA, make sure you submit a complete and well-written application.

The JCU student government is also involved in the Student Union. The student government is made up of elected student representatives who are responsible for making decisions about the Student Union's activities.

The student government is also responsible for fundraising activities, such as the Student Union's annual fall fundraiser, which is held to raise money for the Student Union's activities.

The student government is also responsible for making decisions about the Student Union's budget, which is used to pay for the Student Union's activities.

Nominations for Beaury Award

John Carroll University is seeking nominations for the Beaury Award, given to a graduating senior who has been voted by the student body as the most deserving of this honor. The award is presented at the Commencement exercises in May.

The Beaury Award recognizes outstanding service in the following areas:

- Leadership, Academic Achievement, Service to the University and/or community, and Christian Life.

Anyone in the University community may submit a nomination. Complete the nomination form describing the nominee's achievements in each of the areas listed above. These forms are available in the office of Campus Ministry.

Please include a description of the nominee also. Return the form to the Office of Campus Ministry by March 1, 1996.
Telecommunication laws to open new markets

Joe Wolley

AT&T's latest business plan, announced yesterday, is expected to have major implications for the telecommunications industry. The company plans to open local telephone markets to long-distance competitors and reduce rates by a total of 9 percent.

The plan includes allowing long-distance carriers to offer service in every state, and to take part in cable television and telecommunications mergers and acquisitions, but in the long run, it will most likely spur new competitive opportunities for local and long-distance companies as well.

The bill is expected to cause some controversy, as it attempts to revamp the competitive landscape within the industry.

Some experts are predicting a battle that will result from the bill's passage. Others believe it will open new markets and allow the combined two to compete more effectively.

The Israeli military has deployed a new weapon that is expected to change the course of the ongoing conflict with Hamas. The weapon, known as the "Iron Dome," is a mobile system that can intercept and destroy incoming rockets and missiles.

The Iron Dome is expected to be deployed in major population centers across the country, including in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. It is designed to provide an additional layer of defense against rocket attacks, which have become a common occurrence in recent months.

The system is capable of intercepting rockets launched from a range of up to 70 kilometers, and can be deployed rapidly to any location within Israel.

The deployment of the Iron Dome is part of a broader effort by the Israeli military to strengthen its defenses against rocket attacks. The government has also invested heavily in developing new technologies and weapons systems to counter the threat posed by Hamas and other militant groups in the region.

Most powerful weapon is a computer network. Computer networks are powerful because they can store vast amounts of information, process it quickly, and transmit it over long distances. They are used in various fields such as science, education, communication, and entertainment.

In recent years, computer networks have become more advanced, and they have replaced traditional methods of communication. They are now used in areas such as telecommunication, banking, and government.

The most powerful computer network is the Internet, which is a network of networks that connects millions of computers worldwide. It is a vast network that allows people to communicate, share information, and access services.

The Internet is a powerful tool that has transformed the way we live and work. It has revolutionized the way we communicate, learn, and conduct business. It has become an integral part of our daily lives, and it is likely to remain so in the future.

In conclusion, the Internet is the most powerful computer network, and it is likely to remain so in the future. Its power lies in its ability to connect people and information, and it is likely to continue to evolve and improve in the years to come.

The Glass Menagerie is currently playing in the Marianino Little Theater.

Alex Deschenes, Andrea Tracy, Bel Alzouabu and John Cranley star in "The Glass Menagerie."

"The Glass Menagerie" is the classic American drama about a Southern family's struggle to make ends meet in the 1930s. The original Broadway production starred Jessica Tandy, Anna-Lenore Fonda, and Elizabeth Taylor. The play was directed by Mike Nichols and starred Jessica Lange in the role of "Miss Laura." It ran for 512 performances and was nominated for four Tony Awards, including Best Play and Best Actress in a Leading Role. The play has since been made into a movie and has been adapted for television and radio.

The Glass Menagerie is a romantic comedy-drama that follows the lives of four women: Laura, a shy, vulnerable young woman; her older sister, Angelina, an ambitious young woman; and their mother, Amanda, a hardworking, single mother. The play explores themes of love, identity, and the search for meaning in a world that often seems cruel and unforgiving.

The Glass Menagerie is a moving portrayal of the sacrifices that are made to provide a better future for one's children. It is a story of resilience and hope in the face of adversity, and it reminds us that even in the darkest of times, there is always a glimmer of light that can guide us towards a brighter future. The Glass Menagerie is a timeless classic that continues to touch the hearts and inspire the spirits of audiences around the world. It is a must-see for anyone who loves the power of storytelling and the beauty of the human spirit.
Reality and real-life dreams reflected in Glass Menagerie

Akin Orfey, Tracy Craven, and Bob Akkermans are students at the University of Cincinnati's Drama Department. They are part of the cast for the upcoming play "Glass Menagerie," which opens at 8 p.m. on February 16 in the Campus Center Theater. The play is directed by Professor John Fordham.

"Glass Menagerie" is a Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Tennessee Williams that tells the story of a middle-class family in the 1940s. The play focuses on the relationship between the mother, who dreams of her daughter's success, and the daughter, who is in love with a man who cannot support her.

The cast includes Akin Orfey as Tom, Tracy Craven as Laura, and Bob Akkermans as the Narrator. The play runs through February 17 and 18, with performances at 8 p.m. and a matinee on February 18.

Tickets are available at the Campus Center Theater box office or online at www.uc.edu/hts. Prices start at $10 for students and $15 for adults.

Standing on the edge of a small pool, crisp and clear, the water glistened. I raised my arms to bring the board up for a dive. The board was a six-meter platform, and the water was cold, the temperature not much above the water's. palms and fingers tingling with cold. I was not sure if I could do it. It seemed like an impossible task. I looked around, taking in the surroundings. The pool was surrounded by trees, and the sky was clear. The air was crisp, and the wind was blowing lightly. I took a deep breath, and then I dove.

The water was cold, and my body shivered. I held my breath, and then I surfaced. I looked around, taking in the view. The pool was beautiful, and I felt a sense of calm. I knew that I had done something incredible. I had defeated my fears, and I had achieved something.

Two wins stand between men's hoops and OAC crown

For Coach Mike Mihalich, this is the final weekend of the regular season. The Bobcats are 16-4 overall and 13-1 in the OAC. They have already clinched a berth in the OAC Tournament, but they want to finish strong to secure a good seed.

The Bobcats have won three in a row and are looking to keep the streak alive. They have a chance to do so tonight against Muskingum. The Bobcats are 14-4 in the OAC and are looking to improve their record.

The game will be played at 7 p.m. at the Bobcat Sports Center. It is the last regular-season game for both teams.

History comes full circle

History, we've heard, is often granted a second chance. When we remember that it is possible to correct history, we may be more inclined to value our present moment, knowing that mistakes can be rectified.

But, as we look back on the events of the past, we must also consider the consequences of those actions. The choices we make today will shape the future in ways that we cannot always predict.

So let us learn from history, and strive to create a world that is better than the one we inherited. For history comes full circle, and we have the power to shape our own destiny.

History comes full circle

It's a common fact that, for better or for worse, history often repeats itself. Sometimes, we believe that the past holds the key to understanding the present. In a world where every day brings new challenges and decisions, it's tempting to look back to see what we might learn from past events.

For a historic moment now, the Bosnian situation has highlighted the importance of history. In the past, many similar conflicts have led to the same devastating outcomes. The key to understanding the current situation in Bosnia is to examine the history of similar conflicts and see how they have evolved.

In history, there are often parallels between events. In the case of the Bosnian conflict, we can see echoes of past wars and conflicts. Understanding these parallels can help us to predict the future and take the necessary steps to prevent similar outcomes.

So, the next time you read about a conflict in the world, take a moment to reflect on the lessons of history. Perhaps then, we can learn to avoid repeating the mistakes of the past.

Take a look through the eyes of a child

As we walk through life, we are often reminded of the importance of perspective. Children, for example, see the world differently than adults. Their eyes are filled with wonder and curiosity, and they are not bound by the same limitations as adults.

In the following paragraphs, we will explore the world through the eyes of a child. We will see how a child might describe the world and what they might learn from it.

There are some problems that must be addressed first. The challenge that they face is not one that we can ignore. If we fail to see through the eyes of children, we might not understand the world in the same way.

We are often reminded of how important it is to see the world through the eyes of others. This is especially true when it comes to understanding the world of children.

The proposal of a social security plan is particularly frightening to many. It is not that we have never heard of it before. In fact, we have heard about it countless times. But why do we continue to fear it? Why do we continue to resist it?

The answer is not a simple one. It is not that we don't understand it. It is not that we don't believe in it. It is not that we don't think it is important. It is that we don't want it.
