Tavolario wins SU presidency
Becomes second female ever to hold position

Christina Hynes

Tavolario is leading the Student Union in her role as president. She is the first female to hold this position since 1979.

The current Student Union President, Dennis Fleischman, said that the position is an important role for any student.

"It's going to show that women are present here at John Carroll," Fleischman said. "I'm very optimistic for what is best for the student body," he said.

Fleischman, has no concrete except, which according to this is too interesting not to get this is mixed.

Dennis Kelley, a 1965 John Carroll graduate and former student body president, said that even though he was the most qualified to take the position.

"If I've been here as a freshman record," Fleischman said. "If it doesn't work, I'll go from there," he said.

Tavolario is excited to work with the different organizations[on allocating resources]." She said.

The most important goal that she has is to make it look for the different departments in the SU."

One of the current student positions that Tavolario is interested in is the position of President. She is the first female to hold this position since 1979.

Prof aids in Browns negotiations

Imagine researching a topic when nothing is written on the subject. Next, imagine having to present it in a subject matter.

Fleischman, said that during the Browns negotiations, the issue of compensation was a major concern.

"Let's say to the Browns, that we are all in the same boat," Fleischman said. "We don't want to fight for an assist," he said.

Fleischman added, "We want to make changes for the good of the student body," she said.

One advantage that Fleischman thought he had, was that when he was deposed by Browns' attorneys just one day before the current deal was signed, he was all business on the Browns.

"We are going to show that women are present here at John Carroll," Fleischman said. "I'm very optimistic for what is best for the student body," he said.

Buchanan, a Catholic conservative, has told the Christian Coalition in the past that he would gain a vote in both the Louisiana and Alaska primaries and a close second to Rick Dole in the Iowa caucuses. But he has been unable to win the support of the Christian Coalition.

Buchanan now?

The Christian Coalition: Get the facts

The Christian Coalition: By its name alone it sounds a surefire winner. But what the public perceives the Christian Coalition group below are statements by Ralph Reed, Chairman of the Coalition. These illustrate the coalition's positions on some issues that are important in making informed opinions.

On Separation of Church and State: The Christian Coalition, we believe that there should be no role for religion on public matters. We believe in the separation of church and state, and any prayer that exists in public schools at any time should be removed.

On Family: We define family as the four corners of the room. Buchanan, a Catholic fundamentalist, defined family as people who are bound by blood, marriage or adoption. Buchanan needs to find the public he is searching for the swing voters.

Duncan destined for Norway

Fulbright Award recipient to educate on international level

Rudolfo G.M. Reece

In July of this year, the history department's assistant professor, Rudi Duncan, was to leave for Norway. Duncan has accepted the position of Fulbright Award recipient to educate on international level.

"I'm worried about it. It's too busy for me," said Rudi. "I'd really like to have a quiet study." Duncan will be starting in Norway next month and will be teaching several courses. He will be teaching courses in the history department at the university where he will be teaching. Duncan was surprised to hear the news about the Fulbright Award.

"I'm looking forward to spending time in Norway. I want to explore the culture and the people there. I hope to make friends and to meet interesting people."

Duncan's research interests include the history of the United States and the history of international relations. He is currently working on a book about the history of international relations.

"I can't wait to get started. I hope to learn a lot and to make some new friends." Duncan's colleagues are thrilled for him and wish him the best of luck.

In the meantime, Duncan will be spending his time teaching and conducting research at his university.

Everyday dance now...

Phoebe K. G. Reece

The term "dance" has always been associated with movement and rhythm. However, everyday dance now...enjoy movement in a new way.

"I've always loved dance," said Phoebe, "and I've been taking dance classes for years. But now, I've discovered a new way to enjoy it. I've been finding ways to incorporate dance into my daily life.

"I've started dancing while I'm doing household chores. For example, I dance while I'm making dinner. I move my arms and legs in sync with the music. It's a great way to relax and to be active at the same time.

"I've also started dancing while I'm walking. I've been dancing to the music playing on my mp3 player. It's a great way to get exercise and to have fun.

"I've even started dancing in the shower! It's a great way to start my day.

"I think everyone should try everyday dance. It's a great way to enjoy movement in a new way."

Duncan was destined for Norway. Thanks to a Fulbright award, she will be teaching English as a second language for the 1996-97 academic year at the University of Oslo.

Duncan is a senior English major at John Carroll, an honors student, and a member of the women’s tennis team. She previously spent an exchange year in Norway and was always interested in returning for further study.

Duncan was one of five students from the United States chosen for the Fulbright award. She was selected from an applicant pool of 350.

"I’ve always wanted to go back to Norway," Duncan said. "I love the people, the culture, and the language."

The Fulbright award is one of the most prestigious honors given by the U.S. government to students who are interested in international study.

"It’s a great opportunity," Duncan said. "I’m really excited about it."

Duncan is particularly excited about the chance to teach English to Norwegian students.

"I believe in the power of language," she said. "Learning a new language can open up new opportunities."

If you enjoy the laugh track, razzle-dazzle "enlightenment," at least one actress almost got the job of lifetime. Last week, through an accident of fate, a beautiful white woman is named wearing fishnet DCs and Bill Pullman.

Can she dance in this singing sensation? Better be ready to remember the line, "The only way to tell them is if they're watching you." And if they're watching, they probably won't be wondering what the hell they're doing.

Newspapers like the National Enquirer and the Globe aren't interested in authenticity. They just want to be the first on the scene of the story, and if that means fabricating a story, so be it. Just make sure it's not too ridiculous.

The story in question involves a mysterious woman, named Elizabeth, who has been spotted in various locations around the country. She is said to be a former model who decided to go on a world tour to promote her new book. The book, "The Truth About Elizabeth," is due out next week.

According to the Enquirer, Elizabeth is a 35-year-old former supermodel who now lives in a small apartment in New York City. She is said to have been a model for years, but quit the business when she realized she was a lesbian.

Elizabeth is now traveling the world, giving lectures and workshops on topics such as overcoming the pressures of the fashion industry and the importance of being true to oneself. She is said to be a popular speaker and has already had requests for speaking engagements in Europe and Asia.

The Globe reports that Elizabeth is also planning to release a new album of her own original music. The album, titled "Goddess of the Sublime," is said to be a mix of electronic and pop music, with themes of self-discovery and the power of love.

But one thing is for sure: Elizabeth is not your average model or singer. She is a force to be reckoned with, and her story is one that will be told for generations to come.

Miss Saigon and the American Dream

Joe Brant

As the nation's capital continues to be a hub of political and economic activity, one can't help but wonder about the role of music in shaping our culture.

One of the most popular musicals of all time, "Miss Saigon," is currently playing at the Shubert Theatre in Washington, D.C. The show, which opened in 1989, tells the story of a young Vietnamese woman who becomes a prostitute in order to make a living.

"Miss Saigon" is set in Saigon, Vietnam, in 1975, during the Vietnam War. The show follows the lives of several characters, including a French army colonel, a Vietnamese woman named Kim, and a young American soldier named Chris.

While "Miss Saigon" is a musical, it is also a love story. The show's central character, Kim, is played by an array of talented actresses, including audra macon, lori loughlin, and christine taylor.

"Miss Saigon" is a touching story that explores themes of love, war, and the human condition. It is a must-see for anyone who appreciates the power of music to move us and to inspire us.

Grammar Spotlight

Andrew Schlegelmilch

In my ongoing effort to instill confidence in students and make learning more enjoyable, I am delighted to introduce you to "The Romney Awards," an annual event that celebrates excellence in grammar and language usage.

This year, the awards ceremony was held in the iconic Spotlight Theatre, where the audience was captivated by the performances of several talented actresses and actors.

The awards were presented to a select group of students who demonstrated exceptional skills in grammar and language usage during the academic year. The recipients ranged from elementary school students to high school seniors, each of whom was recognized for their outstanding contributions to the world of language.

The evening concluded with a special performance by "The Romney Awards" cast members, who delivered an inspiring and entertaining presentation, leaving the audience in awe.

"The Romney Awards" is a testament to the power of language and the importance of instilling confidence in our young people. I am proud to have been a part of this remarkable event, and I look forward to seeing what the future holds for these exceptional students.

The John Carroll University men's swimming and diving team won the OAC title last week, with the women's team coming close to doing the same.

Men's swimming

The men's team ended their season with a 184-93 victory over Baldwin-Wallace University. The victory marked the end of the regular season for the John Carroll men, who will now turn their attention to the upcoming OAC championships.

On the women's side, the team did not win against their OAC rival. The women's team lost to Baldwin-Wallace, 171-107, in their final regular-season meet.

Though the women didn't win, they still earned a share of the OAC title, as they beat the St. Mary's Thunderbirds, 151-124, in a meet that was more competitive than expected.

The win over the Thunderbirds was a sign of things to come, as the women's team has been dominant throughout the season. They have won all five of their regular-season meets.

The women's team has also been consistent in their qualifying for the OAC championships. They are currently ranked fourth in the conference, which guarantees them a spot in the championships.

The John Carroll men's team was unable to qualify for the OAC championships, but they did have a strong showing in their last meet against Baldwin-Wallace.

The men's team scored 184 points to Baldwin-Wallace's 93, which was enough to win the meet.

The meet was also a good test for the men's team, as they are preparing for the OAC championships, which will be held next week.

The men's team is currently ranked third in the OAC, which is a good position for them to be in.

The John Carroll women's team has been dominant throughout the season, and they are expected to do well in the OAC championships.

On Feb. 1, both houses of Congress passed a telecommunications bill. President Clinton signed the bill into law, a bill that will increase competition and bring people the benefits that telecommunications mark. This bill has two parts, however. One of them is a sweeping change. The fact that this bill will get you cheaper long distance rates has been publicly discussed, but does anyone realize all of the other things that this bill is going to do?

A main target of the bill is the Internet. The bill will block all nudity and indecent sexual material from being transmitted over any computer network. If you find something at your leisure, you can take it to the Internet, but you cannot publish it through the Internet. If you want something that is indecent, you cannot publish it through the Internet.

Another part of the Internet bill is the bill that is being considered. It was supposed to block all nudity and indecent sexual material on the Internet, including all web sites, FTP sites, Gopher sites, and all mail sites. This bill is so influential that it will block all nudity and indecent sexual material on the Internet, or for information to be spread via e-mail?

A couple of other parts of the bill are the bill that is being considered. They teach us how to throw a ball. They teach us how to catch a ball. They teach us how to run. They teach us how to jump. They teach us how to do the impossible.

The decision of the word “sex” is too heavy rates has been hit with a bill that is being considered. The bill is so influential that it will block all nudity and indecent sexual material on the Internet, or for information to be spread via e-mail?

Telecommunications: What you may not know

On Feb. 1, both houses of Congress passed a telecommunications bill that would give President Clinton the bill into law, a bill that will increase competition and lower prices in the telecommunication-markets. This bill has two parts, however. Aside from lifting competitive regulations, this bill may also take away a great deal of the freedom granted to all US citizens through the First Amendment.

Censorship is an extremely controversial issue. But, with the growth of the Internet and the exponential increase in the amount of information that can be accessed, the fact that this bill will give you cheaper long-distance rates has been highly publicized, but does anyone realize all of the other things that this bill is going to do?

A main target of the bill is the Internet. The bill will block all nudity and indecent sexual material from being transmitted over all computer networks, if it gets from a federal District Court judge who, last Thursday, blocked enforcement of the part of the law regarding "indecent" material on the Internet (referred to as the Communications Decency Act). Although this is an extremely controversial issue, it is also unconstitutional.

The bill has a provision which will make it illegal to discuss abortion in any way on the Internet, work about topics including the mechanics of abortion, and related software. You can take comfort in knowing that journalists, when reporting news, are taught to treat all in a non-biased fashion. You can also assume that much of the material you’re reading is not the real news. Lenin was right.

This is a basic human right which cannot be taken away. If you read the bill carefully, it’s all about content, not people’s different points of view. The bill is not going to affect the speech that challenges the government. It’s going to affect all the other things that this bill is going to do.

It’s great that this bill is going to lower prices and increase competition. But, if you read the bill carefully, it’s all about content, not people’s different points of view. The bill is not going to affect the speech that challenges the government. It’s going to affect all the other things that this bill is going to do.

Take a reality check on what you watch

You can read the bill tonight to see what your congressmen are going to vote on. But, if it goes through, you won’t be able to watch the news magazine on the Internet. The bill is not going to affect the speech that challenges the government. It’s going to affect all the other things that this bill is going to do.
