Tenure denials overturned after appeals

Charlie Skoczen
News Editor

The decision to deny tenure to three faculty members was recently overturned by a committee of three faculty members who did not meet all of the criteria for tenure at that time of the initial denial, but then things happened, and it is evident that the members of the college community were pleased with the outcome. This includes the academic deans and the academic council. The overturned decision is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the committee members, who were able to thoroughly review the applications and make a decision that is in the best interest of the college.

Tenure granted: problem solved?

It does show that the appeals process can work," Baumgartner said.
This is the first time a tenured faculty member has been reviewed, and the second in the 15 years the tenure process has been in place. The first time a decision has been reversed by the appeals committee, Baumgartner said. He added that professors of political science, in particular, are pleased with the outcome. "We're not going to argue with that," he said.

Professor Hahn, who is also a member of the appeals committee, said, "We're talking about the tenure decision, but this is something to be concerned about." She added that the issue is not about endangering people's lives, but about the process that was followed. Clinton names successor to Rice Brown President-elect Bill Clinton has sent New Mexico Sen. Pete Domenici, a Republican, a letter offering him the post of secretary of state. Democrats said the move was a ploy to win the state for him in the general election as he avoids the nomination process. Republicans were incensed.

Nations pledge new money to Bosnia

Pursuing a critical aspect of the Dayton peace agreement, donor nations began making new financial commitments Friday to Bosnia worth a total of $28 billion for the reconstruction of the war-torn country. The United States, which had promised $8 billion, led the way with a pledge of $2 billion. "It's the beginning of a new chapter," Secretary of State Warren Christopher said.

Airline travel

In Europe and around the world, airline travel is becoming an increasingly popular way to get around the globe, as the price of airfare continues to drop.

In recent months, the dollar has fallen against the euro, making it cheaper to fly to Europe. As a result, many people are choosing to travel to Europe instead of taking a vacation in the United States.

After decades of being the dominant force in the travel industry, the United States is now facing increased competition from European airlines. Many European airlines have started offering non-stop flights to destinations in the United States, making it easier and cheaper for Americans to travel to Europe.

In addition to the lower prices, European airlines are offering a wider range of services, such as in-flight entertainment and more comfortable seating. As a result, many people are choosing to fly on European airlines instead of American airlines.

According to industry experts, the trend of increased travel to Europe is likely to continue in the future, as more and more people discover the benefits of traveling to Europe.

Unabomber's reign of terror ending

Joseph L. Bruno

On April 5, school authorities took Theodore Kaczynski into custody.

The charges against him were related to the investigation of the alleged Unabomber. The story of the case of the Unabomber is a cautionary tale about the dangers of unchecked power and the need for a robust system of checks and balances. The Unabomber, a former Berkeley professor, was suspected of sending a series of bombs that killed three people and injured 23 others. The investigation of Kaczynski, who was arrested in Montana, was brought to the attention of the FBI.

The Unabomber's tactics and the方式 of his attacks are the subject of much debate and speculation. Some believe that the Unabomber was a lone wolf, while others believe that he was part of a larger network. The investigation of Kaczynski, who was arrested in Montana, was brought to the attention of the FBI.

Blue Streaks plagued with errors committing 22 over losing skid

Steven L. Cobleson
Assistant Editor

Unfortunately losing is nothing new for the softball team. In fact, of the last seven games, the Blue Streaks have suffered through three one-run losses. And, because of the losing streak, Ohio Wesleyan is now on the outside looking in at the OAC’s Final Four. The Blue Streaks have been struggling through this stretch of games, and have been unable to get their offense going. However, Coach Ellie Powers said that they have been improved as a team. They have been playing better defense, and are showing more confidence in their hitting. Despite the loss, Powers is pleased with the team’s performance. The Blue Streaks are looking for a way to bounce back from their recent losses. They are hoping to turn things around with a strong performance in their next game.

The John Carroll University golf team fell short of expectations in the OAC Championship, finishing in 12th place with 1,274 strokes, 30 strokes behind the fourth-place team. The Blue Streaks ended the season with 191 strokes shy of the championship goal. Despite the disappointing result, the team remained optimistic about the future.

John Carroll faced a nationally ranked opponent in the OAC Championship. Carroll's record of 3-5-1 against nationally ranked teams was impressive, but the team was unable to close the gap against the OAC leader. The Blue Streaks ended the season with an 8-7 overall record.

The Blue Streaks were optimistic about the future, despite the disappointing result. The team plans to continue working hard to improve their performance in the upcoming season.

Tenure: Have we won the battle, but not the war?

Tenure denial to three faculty members whipped JCU on up turm. The SJU, instantly and unanimously approving and explaining their impe-dications of tenure granted, the committee's omission has resulted in the university of professors committee wondering what we are out to do. But what exactly did we set out to achieve? The dean, or a gainst our process vote? And did our efforts really accomplish anything?

It appears student support came too late, and masculating the right moment to strike is difficult when studies warm come after the fact. It has been suggested that the few way for students to alert

We're here for a reason, you

It is tradition that the incoming Editor-in-Chief write a commentary about his or herlected student body and the plans they have for the upcoming school year. But I am not going to do this because the Carroll News is not about me or any plans for the year.

I will be the newspaper editor whose父母 were the most comprehensive representatives on the Carroll community. This is the reason I am here.

The plans for the newspaper are based on the submission of all aspects of campus.

In the past, stories included, operations, presentations, donations, and publication were written by a group of students who showed the diverse styles of William Carroll to the community. On the other hand, this year the newspaper editor is responsible for the publication of all aspects of campus.

The new and improved version of campus will be released every week.

The Carroll News is the result of the hard work of the students who are responsible for the publication of the newspaper. We are proud of our work and will continue to make it better.

It is important to note that the Carroll News is not about me or any plans for the year. It is about the community and the students who are responsible for its publication.

More than that yellow card

The Carroll News is a newspaper that is written by students for students. It is the voice of the students and their opinions.
